MOTIVE FOR NEW CASTLE GIRL'S SLAYING BAFFLES

PROSPERITY? YES, WHEN DEMOCRATS GOLF, SAYS WILL

(Special To The News)

NEW YORK, Nov. 21. — Al Smith has gone south to play golf. That shows that there must be prosperity, when even the Democrats can afford golf courses.

I attribute Hoover's success to the fact that we have never seen his picture on a golf course. Nothing outside of a senatorial investigation can ruin a man so completely with the general public as golf pictures can.

That's why Calvin has remained so strong. You have seen him in every other costume imaginable, but you have never seen him in knee breeches.

Yours,
WILL.

Hitch hikers have taken advantage of the fact that another stop is now necessary for autoists because of the signal light at the corner of North and Jefferson streets. At some times during the day and night thumb jerkers are thick along the street. It's a practice that is being overworked.

According to annauncement made to the pupils the cafeteria in the new George Washington Junior High school will be placed in service on Thursday morning. All pupils have been obliged to carry their lunch to school ever since the session was started in September.

There was just a little advance notice this morning that winter is on the way. Temperatures got below freezing and here and there ice and snow were to be noted along the streets.

Got a rush order subscription for The News today from a local man who is temporarily employed in another city. "You've got to get outside of New Castle for a while to appreciate what a fine newspaper we've got here in The New Castle News" he said.

Gift of Percy L. Craig to the New Castle high school band is certainly one that will be appreciated. Coming unsolicited, it is all the more gratifying to the senior high and its friends. The high school band will be just about the classiest outfit that has appeared in high school circles in this district in many years in their complete new uniforms.

New Castle motorists received their share of it, it meanig anytning last evening during the snow. It was probably the worst evening that we have had this year for driving. It is rumored that three drivers who have hand wind shield wipers have their arms in slings this morning.

Though Pa Newc has not donned his flannels as yet, he has taken the moth balls out of the old overcoat and drafted it into service once again. He could not help but notice several

Mystery Death Of Young Girl Still Baffling

Nothing Has Yet Been Developed To Show Motive For Emma Alley Murder

FALSE STORIES BEING CIRCULATED

Diversity Of Opinion As To Where Girl Received Fatal Blow

Solution of mystery surrounding the murder of Emma Alley, 16 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Alley of Shenango township, has not been made, despite many rumors and false stories which have been circulated on the streets.

While officials have been confronted with many baffling circumstances connected with the case, they are still bending their energies in quest of clues that may lead to the arrrest of the girl's slayer.

Seek Motive

One of the hard problems to figure out has been a motive for the slaying. In the absence of any clues in this direction, it is believed that the murder was not premeditated, but that it was a crime perpetrated in the heat of passion. It hardly seems plausible that the party who is alleged to have taken the girl out in an automobile, did so for the express purpose of killing her. The more plausible theory is that she was slain in a quarrel that developed.

After the finding of the body there were a number of rumors circulated that the motive might have been one of revenge for some real or fancied wrong on the part of the girl, but investigation has failed to substantiate this theory.

Scene of Crime Baffles

Another mystery that has baffled the authorities, is the exact spot at which the girl received the fatal injury. This might have an important bearing on the case.

Was the fatal blow struck in an automobile? Was it on the road where the blood spots were found? Was it on the hill when Officer Richards found the swimming trunks? Was it in the vicinity of where the body was found. Or had the girl been put out of the automobile, and was she walking on the road, when she was attacked?

These are all theories for speculation. Efforts are being made to run them all down. Another question

CAR OPERATOR IN SERIOUS CONDITION

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 21.—With a hospital list of fifteen persons, one of them in critical condition, Pittsburgh railways officials today pressed an investigation of the Homestead street car crash which yesterday injured fifty-three persons.

Meanwhile, a movement, sponsored by the Homestead Kiwanis club, Homestead Park residents and Brierly Civic club indicated a concerted protest against the operation of one-man cars, the type of both the Homestead Park and Homestead-East Liberty cars which figured in the crash on Amity hill.

A. B. Harbert, of Duquesne, operator of the Homestead-East Liberty car which was crushed by the runaway Homestead Park car, is in Homestead hospital in critical condition, while fourteen others, eleven of them girls and women, are also under treatment. Nearly all of the passengers of the

Restricted Immigration Backers Plan New Move In Coming Congress

Take Election Result As Approval By People Of Restricted Immigration

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—Congressional backers of restricted immigration, accepting the recent election as a popular endorsement of the policy, today opened a campaign to draw the bars tighter than ever in the coming session.

A meeting of the House immigration committee called for today—the first committee gathering for the new session—signalized the opening of the drive.

May Change Quotas

Realizing the difficulties faced in enactment of legislation in the short session, ardent restrictionists prepared to urge the committee to demand prompt action on many important measures. Among the measures expected to be dealt with by Congress are:

The national origins clause, changing the basis of immigrant quotas. The measure has been postponed twice and an effort is expected to be

Three Inspectors Swear To Rigid Four-Day Inspection Prior To Sailing

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—The joint inquiry here into the sinking of the Holt and Lamport liner Vestris off the Virginia Capes a week ago Monday resolved itself into a question of veracity between inspectors of the United States steamboat inspection service and members of the crew regarding the seaworthiness of the ill-fated vessel.

United States Attorney Charles H. Tuttle and nautical experts directing the Federal inquiry had before them on the one hand the testimony of three members of the crew of the Vestris that the liner had leaked on her four previous voyages, and nothing had been done to repair the more than fifty leaks.

On the other hand were the statements of three inspectors, made under oath in the customs house before a board representing the United States Department of Commerce, that they had made a thorough, four day inspection of the Vestris just before her last voyage and found her sea-

Report Lindy To Marry Daughter Of Ambassador

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Reporters rushed down the bay on cutters early today seeking verification of the published report that Miss Elizabeth Morrow, daughter of the American ambassador to Mexico, who is a passenger on the incoming liner Olympic, would marry Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, America's first citizen of the air.

Col. Lindbergh, who has been visiting Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow and family in Mexico City, was scheduled to hop off yesterday afternoon for Tampico for the ostensible purpose of hunting lions in the Huastean jungles for the balance of the week, but was delayed by fog. It was announced that he would fly from Tampico to St. Louis, but it was rumored here that the flying colonel might cut short his hunt and come to New York.

Elizabeth Morrow visited Mrs. Evangeline Lindbergh, the flyer's mother, who is teacher in a girls' school in Turkey.

The Lindbergh romance, it is understood, dates back to last year when the colonel and his mother were Christmas guests at the United States embassy in Mexico City.

Miss Morrow refused either to affirm or deny her reported betrothal.

"I won't discuss that," she said firmly and though ship news reporters plied her with any number of questions in an effort to draw her out she stuck to her first declaration.

More Witnesses Give Testimony On Signatures

Several On Stand Testify That Signature On Mrs. Dean Will Is Genuine

PLAINTIFF'S SIDE OF CASE NOT COMPLETED

Judge Orders Night Session Of Court In Effort To Speed Up Case

Delays, technicalities and objections filled considerable of the morning session of the Dean Will case today, now being heard before Judge James A. Chambers, and as a result, the plaintiff's side was still being presented at the noon issue. There was every indication however that this side would close early this afternoon and the defense will then open.

Only three witnesses were heard this morning, E. B. Hawkins, cashier of the Union National bank, John G. Nothdurft, treasurer of the Dollar Savings association and W. Charles Sankey, of the auditing department of the Lawrence Savings and Trust company.

Examined Carefully

Mrs. Jessie Hamilton was first called but her testimony was objected to upon the grounds that she was an interested party. The objection was sustained and E. B. Hawkins was called. He testified to signatures upon papers he had seen and said that in his opinion the will signature was valid.

John G. Nothdurft was called and was grilled at length upon cross examination. Some argument ensued between the witness and Attorney C. H. Akens, the attorney insisting that the witness was not answering the question as it was stated. Mr. Nothdurtf pointed out the different in signatures due to different pen points being used, and after a lengthy examination said that he believed the will signature of Mrs. Nellie M. Dean was genuine.

Say Signature Genuine

W. Charles Sankey was called and said that he had not seen the identification card of Mrs. Dean signed. Attorney Akens objected that he was not qualified to express an opinion but Attorney Braham insisted that the fact that he had passed many checks signed by Mrs. Dean, and that he was familiar with the identification card, an admitted standard, was sufficient.

Judge Chambers ruled that Sankey

Newsboy Fakers From Youngstown In Police Court

Police Chief Warns Boys That Lying Tactics Will Not Be Tolerated Here

Acting under orders of Chief of Police C. C. Horner police officers of this city today rounded up all the Youngstown newsboys who were found selling papers on the streets. They were ordered into the police station. This action was the result of numerous complaints made by residents of the city.

Chief Horner advised the boys that there was no desire to prevent them from selling their wares in this city but if they would like to continue doing so they must refrain from calling out "untruths" and making misleading statements in order to stimulate the sales of their papers.

They were advised that should they continue to do this practice here that they would be jailed and fined. They were also directed to remain out of the suburban districts of the city crying their wares in a misleading manner.

The chief advised them that not only were the stories they were attempting to sell the papers with, misleading themselves but in their efforts to sell the same, that they made further misstatements which made it unfair to the reading public of this city. He told them that if they didn't have anything better than lies on which to sell their papers that they had better stay where they belonged unless they wanted to get into jail.

The boys and their circulation manager promised to abide by the decision of the chief in the future.

TELLS STORY OF WILD DASH FOR LIFEBOATS

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN.
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—A graphic story of how passengers and crew of the ill-fated Vestris scrambled madly for positions in lifeboats, once the women and children had been lowered over the port side in two boats was related on the witnes stand today by one of the survivors Edward J. Margin of Countclair, N. J. He was testifying at the U. S. steamboat inspection service inquiry into the disaster which cost 110 lives when the Vestris sank off the Virginia Capes a week ago Monday.

"The order to lower the lifeboats came about 10:30 Monday morning" said Marvin a first class passenger. "The women and children were placed in lifeboats numbers 4 and 6. Oars had to be used to push the two boats over the side. There was no confusion while this was going on however.

"But once the women and children were over the side a mad scramble occurred. The crew dashed for the other lifeboats. So did the passengers.

"I rushed toward lifeboat No. 8. There was a hole in it and a deckhand was patching a piece of tin over the hole. I said to myself, 'Here's one

ABOARD U. S. S. MARYLAND, VIA WIRELESS TO LOS ANGELES, Nov. 21—President-elect Herbert Hoover exchanged his white flannels for the sturdy canvas clothes of a fisherman today to try his hand at deep sea fishing off the southern tip of Lower California, for tarpon, marlin sailfish and yellowtails. He is out avowedly for "bites" scaling upwards the 300 pounds.

Mr. Hoover has studied these famous spawning grounds, which are about 40 miles southwest of Cape Lucas from afar for many years, and today he was eager to have a try at the game fish which are so abundant in these waters.

Since leaving San Pedro, the Maryland bearing the Hoover party on the good-will tour to Central and South America has been making steady progress.

It is expected that the Maryland will steam into the first foreign port—Amapala, Honduras—Sunday. The battleship, however, will have to maintain a steady cruising speed of 17 knots an hour in order to keep on schedule time.

On this trip southward, the navy is doing itself proud in every detail of the cruise. The big battleship cleaves

GUNMEN CAREFUL TO KILL RIGHT MAN

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Police were confronted by a baffling mystery today in the cold-blooded slaying of Walter Selonick, financial secretary of the Majestic Benevolent association by a youthful Italian gunman who broke into roars of laughter as he leisurely walked out of the offices of the association.

Robbery was not the motive, for the gunman and his two companions took no money, and Selonick's friends and relatives said he had no enemies.

The three gunmen walked into the building and surprised Selonick and three associates. After carefully scrutinizing the features of the four officials, the Italian shot and killed Selonick. The other three were not harmed.

Laughing heartly, the gunmen walked out of the building and escaped.

Bloodhounds To Be Used In Effort To Locate Hatchet Murderer

OMAHA SLEEPS BEHIND BARRICADED DOORS

Three Persons Have Been Slain And Two Others Attacked

(International News Service)

OMAHA, Neb., Nov. 21.—Bloodhounds were to be turned loose today in an attempt to pick up the trail of the "hatchet murderer" who already has taken three lives here, wounded two other persons and terrorized the city.

Horror-stricken Omaha slept behind barricaded doors last night while 250 policemen and scores of American Le-gionnaires patrolled the streets in the fiend slayer might appear at midnight, as he did in his other nocturnal raids.

Bring In Suspects

All through the night suspects were being brought in by police. The majority were negroes, for the "hatchet man" is said to be a negro. Some resembled the murderer's description, but detectives did not believe the "hatchet man" was among them.

A check-up of various institutions for the insane and feeble-minded failed to show escape of any inmate whose description tallied with that of the man now sought.

The slayer is described by Mrs. Harold Stribling, whom he forced to accompany him to a swamp near Carter Lake, Ia., where she succeeded in escaping him, as a negro youth of light complexion, about 21.

Three Are Killed

Mrs. Stribling's husband, a former University of Nebraska student, lay near death today from wounds sustained when attacked by the "hatchet man" prior to the kidnaping of Mrs Stribling.

Previous to the attack on the Striblings the killer had hacked to death Mrs. Weldo Resso, wife of a milk carrier and mother of three children; Mrs. Resso's sister, Creda Brown, 18, visiting at the Resso home, and J. W. Blackburn, 74, a baggage man.

Blackburn's son, arrested after the finding of the father's body, was released from custody yesterday.

Hold Suspect

FREMONT, Neb., Nov. 21.—A man answering the description, authorities said, of Omaha's "hatchet murderer", was under arrest here today.

He was a Syrian who said he had come into town on a freight train from Sioux City. His height and weight, police reported, tallied with that of the maniac sought for the slaying of three and serious wounding of two other Omaha residents. Because of his swarthy skin, authorities said he easily could be taken for a light-colored negro.

This weather is bad for a tenor voice, or a fellow whose voice is pitched high, and it ruins him quite for a solo I wot, such as old Mister Tosti's "Goodbye". But the chappie who sings down around the low C, who cannot emit a high cheep, its a wonderful thing for it helps him a lot, when he sings that "Asleep In The Deep." But for those of we mortals who sing not so much, its a nuisance to take on a cold, more especially a one that hits right in the voice, and a deep basso tone takes a hold. But you have one I guess, so have I, its a peach, and I growl everything I must say, and my voice sounds like thunder, on some wooded hill, its cool, forty-one today.

Tree Planting Plans Progress

Officials To Inspect Sites Along Three Lawrence County Roads

Plans are progressing favorably for the planting of trees next spring along portions of the Harlansburg, East Brook and Enon Valley highways, according to information received here today.

Officials of the state will soon inspect the sites for the planting and the trees will be sent here next spring to be planted by employes of the State Highway Department.

When local persons, interested in the proposed planting put the proposition before Secretary of Agriculture C. G. Jordan he accepted the proposal rapidly and took the problem up with foresty officials.

W. A. Van Duzer was delegated to secure the trees and within the near future sites will be inspected along the highways.

In some portions there are telephone and telegraph poles and in these sectors trees cannot be placed unless the poles are removed.

Says Environment Influences Sex Of Unborn Child

(International News Service)

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., Nov. 21.—That environment influences the sex of the unborn young was asserted by Arthur M. Banta, of the department of genetics, of the Carnegie Institute of Washington, in a paper read today at the fall meeting of the National Academy of Sciences, being held here.

The meeting closes this afternoon.

Dr. Banta said that it is probable that sex control is accomplished through control of a sex determining mechanism.

Until such mechanism control is accomplished, sex control in higher animals seems beyond the possibility of attainment he said.

Some time has been required in bringing the eating room to completion, but according to school officials everything necessary has been accomplished at this time. Groceries have been secured, the newly purchased dishes washed and everything necessary for the operation of the cafeteria, arranged.

Each item on the cafeteria menu, it is said, will cost but five cents. This will enable parents of the pupils to allow their children the correct amount for the price of their lunch.

COMMISSIONER SAYS BIG IMPROVEMENT IN BROADCASTING

radio have been cleared and a sound basis established upon which can be built a radio system of maximum service to the public," Caldwell said.

"I note that many of the complains are registered against the action of the commission in forcing some stations to divide time. For instance such complaints come from St. Louis and Iowa where popular stations have been required to share channels with others. The commission hopes to work out these problems equitably although much time division is absolutely necessary under the law."

Caldwell attributes a considerable portion of the listeners difficulties to the fact that they are not getting their favorite stations on the customary dial point.

"The antennas have been erected in many cases to catch signals of certain stations," Caldwell explained. "It may be necessary for the listeners to rebuild their antennas.

"An ideal arrangement might be to use two antennas, at right angles to each other. In tuning for north or south stations the antenna running in that direction could be used, the other for the east and west stations.

"The listener should experiment with antennas of different length, as frequently too much aerial is employed, while this increases volume, it also brings greater interference.

"It may be found that cutting off the ground of the set will improve reception from certain stations."

There are yet several complicated situations to work out. In Chicago one station, backed by powerful interests, is seeking unlimited time and greater power; four groups in the New York metropolitan area, including one group in nearby Jersey, are fighting for additional broadcasting time; Iowa and St. Louis stations are dissatisfied with time division.

Reports to the commission from the south and far west apparently are favorable.

made to kill it despite a strong demand for the law.

A drastic deportation bill, aimed chiefly at alien law violators. The bill is on the House calendar.

Extension of the restricted system to Canada, Mexico and South America as provided in the box bill pending in committee.

The Schnieder bill, legalizing entrance of immigrants smuggled in before 1921. Anti-restrictionists propose to extend it to 1924, thus legalizing entry of 1,000,000 aliens.

The box bill and deportation measures are expected to furnish the fireworks. Both are backed by Rep. Albert Johnson (R) of Washington committee chairman, and Rep. John Box (D) of Texas, ranking minority member.

Hoover Is Opposed

The national origins clause, designed to increase the percentage of northern European immigration, may be sidetracked, but not without a fight. President-Elect Hoover, however, is opposed to this measure.

Extensive hearings were held on the Box bill at the last session, but it did not reach the floor. Restrictionists charged that Mexicans were flooding the southwestern part of the United States, as were negro immigrants from the West Indies and South American countries. The quota system cannot be placed on Mexico unless Canada also is brought in line, it was argued.

The present status of the Canadian immigration case in the supreme court, in which lower courts held that British subjects under treaty have the unrestricted right to cross and recross the border for business purposes, may spur the fight to apply the system to Canada.

Backers of the deportation bill declare that present laws under which aliens are sent back to their native lands are too lax.

which naturally arises is whether or not there was more than one person in the automobile. All that is known about the automobile seems to be what has been told the authorities by Mrs. Alley. She says that the machine stopped near the Alley home around 10 o'clock, and that her daughter went out and got into it. She could not see how many persons were in the automobile. She does not know whether her daughter got into the front or the back seat. So far as reported it has not been stated in which direction the automobile went. All that is known about it is that it was a closed car.

Fred Alley, a brother of the deceased girl, says that she was expecting some one, that she had told him this earlier in the evening. Fred did not see the automobile. Neither did Mr. Alley, who is said to have been sleeping. According to his story he got up and went hunting early the next morning, without being told that his daughter was not in the house. He came down the road past where his daughter was later found. He was leading a dog, but the dog showed no signs of smelling blood on the road or the body in the stream. Mr. Alley says that he did not know that his daughter was dead until Saturday evening when he returned from the hunt.

So far as known there are no persons who might have been connected with the case who are missing. There is somebody in this vicinity who knows how the girl was slain. The case as it now stands is one difficult of solution, but officials are determined to unravel the mystery if it is within their power.

Probe Into Lottery Operations In Western Pennsylvania Goes Deeper

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 21.—Warrants for the arrest of many of the 244 persons indicted by the county grand jury investigating charges of graft in the city, who have not placed bail for their appearance in court, will be issued District Attorney Samuel H. Gardner indicated today when he ordered a list of their names prepared and sent to Judge J. B. Drew.

Meantime, the probe into lotteries and law enforcement officers who are accused of protecting alleged gambling operators, were again given the spotlight.

A dozen witnesses were on hand at the opening of the jury probe today, they were persons who it is reported can throw much light on lottery operations in the city.

J. A. Murray of Philadelphia, Henry C. Recker of Carrick and Mrs. Mary Shaffer of Castle Shannon alleged heads of one of the biggest lotteries in existence, are under $5,000 bond today for court trial. Chief of County Detectives George Murren filed the charges against them.

An investigation of the bank accounts of these three, according to Gardner, revealed that each of them had apparently been engaging in some profitable business.

TELLS STORY OF WILD DASH FOR LIFEBOATS

lifeboat I won't get in.' I finally got in lifeboat No. 10."

Marvin testified that it was with the greatest difficulty that lifeboat number 10 was launched. The ax used to cut the ropes he said was dull and penn knives had to be used to sever the ropes.

Q.—(By Dickerson N. Hoover, head of the steamboat inspection service who was presiding).—What was the condition of the lifeboat you entered?

A.—It leaked badly. It was in that condition until we were finally picked up. There were twelve flares in the boat but nine of them were defective.

Sunday night—the night before the sinking—The Vestris listed so badly to the starboard side it was with difficulty that passengers were able to traverse the decks, Marvin said. He noticed about that time that the ship was standing. The engines had stopped.

worthy. They also denied charges that they had been drinking during the inspection.

Inspection Superficial

It was admitted, however, by Capt. Edward W. Keane, assistant inspector of hulls, that his inspection of six of the fourteen coal ports on the Vestris had been superficial. Coal stored in the bunkers had blocked his approach to the ports, he said, and he had merely examined them from a distance with a flashlight.

Assertions have been made by passengers and members of the crew that the hold of the Vestris was flooded by water from two leaky coal ports.

The Department of Commerce inquiry was resumed shortly after 10 o'clock this morning. The first witness was James Duffy, a newspaper reporter who interviewed Frederick Sorenson, one of the survivors. Duffy refuted the denial made by Sorenson on the stand yesterday to the effect that Duffy and other newspaper men had misquoted him. Duffy insisted that Sorenson had charged the captain of the Vestris and the crew with 'criminal negligence.' The disputed interview was given by Sorenson aboard the rescue ship American Shipper. John McClain another reporter, yesterday testified that the interview as printed was true.

GENE TUNNEY may have put off the gloves for good. But he's too wise a man to give up the priceless habits of physical training that stood him in such good stead in his profession.

Just before his last fight, Tunney said:

"I started taking Nujol internally seven years ago. The first month Nujol brought remarkable changes in my physical condition. My elimination became active and normal. My appetite increased and a desire for intensive training was created. Since that time I have taken Nujol about five nights a week. I have regulated myself to the amount necessary to keep my elimination normal. I have found during my seven years' experience with Nujol that it is not habit-forming, or in any way unpleasant or harmful."

Nujol is not a medicine. It contains absolutely no medicine or drugs. It is simply a pure substance—perfected by the Nujol Laboratories, 26 Broadway, New York. It not only prevents an excess of body poisons from forming (we all have them) but aids in their removal. In sealed packages only. Buy a bottle of Nujol today.

Ground Gripper Week
NOV. 19th to NOV. 26th
"Bad shoes do more than cause bad feet"

But foot troubles vanish with these orthopedically correct shoes

THOUSANDS of mothers are telling their daughters this today. They are showing them that headaches, backaches, nerve strain, restless sleep—all these and often severe organic troubles—follow in the wake of tight, high heel, short vamp, "high style" shoes. They are pointing out the easy remedy—the perfect fit, thorough comfort and corrective aid of Ground Grippers.

They are showing how, as in their own case, Ground Gripper shoes offer a positive assurance against tired, aching, painful feet.

And it is all true. Not simply an advertised promise of relief, but a fact borne out in thousands of cases throughout Ground Gripper's twenty-five years of knowing how to build orthopedically correct shoes.

Ground Grippers bring freedom from discomfort to busy feet today because they combine the following vital principles of scientifically correct shoes:

1. The Flexible Arch, which allows the foot muscles to exercise and thus strengthen themselves with every step. This flexibility makes the shoe close-fitting and comfortable, easing the foot while assisting the arch to absorb the shocks of walking.

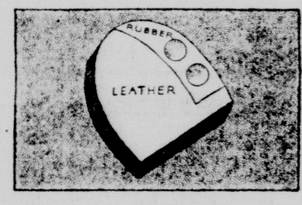
2. The Straight Inner Line, permitting the toes to function with a free, strong, gripping action.

3. The Patented Rotor Heel, which helps you toe straight ahead, the normal, natural way.

When Ground Grippers are so certain to help, are you willing to continue to pay the price of foot neglect? When Ground Grippers have for more than twenty-five years proved their comfort-giving qualities to thousands of wearers, can you continue to doubt their ability to help you?

Give them a chance today. Learn for yourself how they ease your feet—how your foot troubles will dwindle and vanish.

At the nearest Ground Gripper store is a man who will understand your feet and your shoe problems. Drop in to see him today.



The Ground Gripper Rotor Heel helps you toe straight ahead, the normal, natural way.

RHODES' SCHOLARSHIP MAY BE REALLOTTED

LAWRENCE county will manifest some interest in the bill that is now before the British Parliament, proposing to change the method of awarding Rhodes scholarships in the United States. While it may be news to many, it is a fact that Lawrence county's college, Westminster, has sent two students to England from Pennsylvania, as Rhodes scholarship winners, during the past quarter century.

Under the present plan, thirty-two are annually available, so that in the course of three years each state in the union is entitled to two. It is now desired, both here and abroad, to divide the country into eight regions, preserving roughly the same general regional distribution as now, but offering enough elasticity to take care of more than two eligible candidates in one state if the neighboring state did not happen to offer candidates of equally high competitive merit.

Rearrangement will probably have little local meaning unless some exceptional form of gerrymandering should result from the creation of new districts.

Meanwhile Americans will doubtless be most surprised at learning parliament may modify the terms of Cecil Rhodes's will in this manner. However, it was done before in connection with the Rhodes bequests. During the war parliament withdrew the stipends which had been allotted to Germany and assigned them elsewhere. As the power to nominate the German scholars was originally given to the Kaiser, the question of restoring the privilege to the present Reich would now involve manifest difficulties.

To change the benefactions of a will in this country we apply, not to congress, but to the courts.

There is no controversy, merely a better method of apportionment being sought.

HOOVER AND THE SOUTH

LITTLE by little the Republican party invades the traditional territory of the Democrats. Mr. Roosevelt in 1904 was the first Republican candidate for the presidency to carry Missouri. Mr. Harding, in 1920, was the first Republican candidate for the presidency to carry Tennessee. Mr. Coolidge, in 1924, was the first Republican candidate for president to carry Kentucky. Mr. Hoover carries the invasion into Virginia, North Carolina, Florida and perhaps Texas.

It is very likely, as The New York Times thinks, that this last feat is largely due to Mr. Hoover himself. He had three great advantages: (1) His great reputation in the service of humanity; (2) his identity with business rather than with politics; (3) the historical innovation of a scientist and engineer as a candidate for president. Strong in each of these fields, he was unbeatable when they were conjoined. The country displayed in the election a sense of wanting commercial and engineering rather than political leadership. It had in mind foreign trade rather than foreign affairs. It possibly had in mind conquering the Mississippi floods, as it might have had some taint anticipation that we will have the Nicarguan Canal to build. The appearance of Mr. Hoover on the political horizon might therefore have appealed to the genius of the people, which is sometimes far more practical and far-seeing than we are accustomed to suspect.

The Democrats opposed to this imaginative quality which Mr. Hoover possibly stimulated no prospect that was in any sense dramatic.

MODERN GEOGRAPHERS

MOTORING and foreign travel on the intensive and extensive scale in which they are indulged in this country is making a nation of expert geographers of the people of the United States.

Before the advent of the motor car it could have been safely said that the average home was mapless. Geography in those provincial days meant to the average citizen only a part of the public school curriculum and probably one of the "useless and impractical" subjects at that.

What a change the universal use of the automobile has worked! Highway maps for every state and section of the country are being published and sold by the millions. Most households can produce a score or more of assorted sizes and subjects on demand and the modern car is not fully equipped until one or more maps have been tucked away in a pocket or under the seat.

This isn't just a national vogue for map collecting. Maps are being purchased for perusal. Motor trips of both local and long distance natures are being planned. Transcontinental routes have a universal appeal. Motorists are curious as to the development of the nation's highway system, especially in distant counties and more distant states.

A geography bee between the nation's motorists and non-motorists might bring out some very interesting facts. Surely men and women are none the worse for knowing how the "foreigners" across the county line or beyond the state border live.

Most persons have come to regard poverty as a handicap instead of an incentive.

A normal man is one who thinks he would look better if the barber had cut his hair differently.

Some wives' attitude appears to be if they can not get all the money they prefer to get alimony.

Chewing gum costs America $50,000,000 annually, which is a lot of money to stick under tables and chairs.

Working too much will get you the same as loafing too much. Germs don't care about how important you are.

Gandhi's Cow.
Coolidge's Speech.
Pulitzer's Horse.
And Mayer's Radio Tieup.

By ARTHUR G. BRISBANE
(Copyright, 1928, by N. Y. American, Inc.)

Britain's 300,000,000 Hindu subjects followed their prophet Gandhi into and through many kinds of foolishness. They believed him when he advised hand-weaving to compete with British looms, and admired him when he starved himself in a British prison.

They turn against him now because he has caused a suffering sick cow to be killed and put out of hopeless misery.

Hindus worship the cow as a goddess. Hindu goddesses have taken the cow shape, as Jupiter took the shape of a bull.

Also the cow gives milk, like a mother.

You would not kill your sick mother, no matter how sick.

Therefore, you must not kill a sick cow.

Thousands of miserable animals die slowly, starving, in India, and no one will kill them. When the British order police to put suffering creatures out of their misery, the population longs to rebel, and would, if it had the energy.

No wonder a handful of meat-eating, beer and whisky-drinking British can handle and keep down 300,000,000 Hindus.

Those Hindus that turned on Gandhi for destroying a suffering animal, will cut the throats of a thousand goats in their temple yard because the blood pleases some god.

And they hate the British for forbidding "Suttee," the pratcice of burning young widows alive, with the bodies of their old husbands.

Whoever can get excited about "the wrongs of India" gets excited easily.

Mr. James writes from Europe about America and Coolidge in a way that must be applauded by all the debt dodging nations. The New York Times that prints his writing should be paid advertising rates for "full position, next to pure reading matter." . . .

Mr. James says that Europe recognizes this country's right to build any kind of navy, which you'll admit is very sweet of Europe.

But he and Europe evidently think that Coolidge and the country that elected him should be ashamed of themselves.

Thank heaven for Mr. James, and the Times prints his stuff. It will stimulate, here preparation for what Europe would do if it dared.

Fortunately, just now, Europe feels toward this country as those Hindus feel toward Britain.

Or as that able citizen, the late Joseph Pulitzer, felt toward a horse that he rode along the upper Corniche road, back of Beaulieu, on the Mediterranean. The horse persisted in dancing on the edge of a precipice, to which a passing hay wagon had forced it.

"Damn you," said Pulitzer almost blind, "I wish I dared hit you on the head."

That's how Europe feels toward us and especially toward Mrs. Coolidge, dancing on the brink of war.

The stock market continues to boil along, while conservatism holds up a warning finger, and those that failed to "get aboard" hold up several warning fingers.

Five million shares sold Monday. Radio Company jumped up 30 points for the day.

When Mr. Mayer, of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, advised all Hollywood to buy that stock last winter it was selling under 90. It closed yesterday at 331, up more than $200 a share. Mr. Mayer bought only a few thousand shares, because his motto is "Don't gamble."

Sorrow of the singed beard is rooted in the fact that they never know what will happen next.

Monday, for instance, the Du Pont Company gave each stockholder three and a half shares for one, and an extra dividend of $3.75 a share. The stock dividend is no meaningless gesture.

It means that next year stockholders will get in dividends seventeen million dollars more than they get this year.

That sort of thing makes bears sympathize with Dante characters on whom flakes of fire fell eternally.

Mr. Hoover starts on his South American trip and the Mississippi starts on a rampage.

Several lives and several million dollars have been lost already.

"Old Man River" may shorten Mr. Hoover's journey.

It must be a pleasing combination to be a President, with power, and an engineer knowing how.

The latest eruption of Mount Etna "destroyed" ten thousand acres of fertile Sicilian land.

Frost, rain and sunshine will crumble the lava to dust.

Weeds will grow, soil will form. Earth worms will chew it up, and those acres will be fertile again, and Etna will be a dead volcano.

It will take some time, thousands of centuries.

There is no hurry, for according to Prof. Millikan, men will live on this planet for a thousand million years longer.

Our idea of something to be truly thankful for is when a man is up in an airplane and it goes bad he is able to land without being killed or crippled for life.

One of the birds who was cheering a policeman while the cop was firing several shots at a dog is now in the hospital because one of the bullets which missed the dog hit him. Every time that guy sees a dog or a policeman after he gets well he will feel like galloping into a safe zone.

John D. Rockefeller is making plans to go south after Thanksgiving to take up his game of golf. He is one citizen who is not only old enough for that game, but can also afford to play it.

Another good test of will power is to sit beside the driver and not comment on his technique.

The second son of the former Kaiser Wilhelm is reported to have married the rich widow of a former American opera singer. The Kaiser's family can again be reported as making some progress.

SERVES YOU RIGHT

The world is half full of people who do shoddy work. They never try to do good work. They say: "It's good enough; let it go at that."

They are poor people—poor as thunder; and they wonder why. They never will learn, but the reason they are poor is because the world doesn't pay much for sorry work.

If you are content to do slipshod work, that is your privilege. Somebody will hire you, for there are people like yourself who don't care about good work. But they won't pay you much. Sorry work; sorry pay.

The big money goes to the good workmen. The world pays for what it wants. Beat the world doing anything and you can name your own price.

But do sorry work and you'll be poor all your life—and, what is more, you will deserve all the "hard luck" you have.

So many hunters are being killed by their own guns it makes a lot of people feel if they just had to die that way, considering the trifling way they are killed.

It don't pay to chuckle. Not long ago we called attention to the fact that Butler was having a few ugly murders. And just see what happened in this city during the past week! The crooks in the grass!

At Newark, N. J., the police picked up over 200 children in one evening who were on the streets without their parents. That can be done in most any city in this country and it's nothing to brag about. It's surprising the wee little chaps one can see running around New Castle late at night.

THE HEAD OF THE DEPARTMENT

"What did the boss say when you told him it was triplets?"

"He promoted me to be head of my department."

"What department are you in?"

"Production."

A Pittsburgh lady wants a divorce from her husband because he threatened to drown the baby in the bathtub if it cried and also threatened her because she did not clean his shoes. He denied that he threatened her with a butcher knife. Oh what a life. Oh, wham de doodle wham!

Mr. Hoover evidently thinks that being neighborly with other nations is a good thing. There are people who know that is a good thing to practice in the community in which they live and no doubt it is a good thing between nations we expect to do business with in a profitable way to all concerned.

The amendment for the voting machines in Pennsylvania passed. It is now up to the coming session of the legislature to provide the laws for the use of the machines. Any bird in the legislature who shows an inclination to frustrate any attempt to block the machines should have both his legs cut off right under his chin. The voting machines will not be a good thing for crooks of the political brand of which we have so many.

THE HOME IS THE WOMAN'S IF SHE DESERVES A HOME

Nine times in ten, the man who places his property in his wife's name is a crook. He does it to avoid paying honest debts. He is a thief.

The average man thinks of his property as wholly his. He does not concede that his wife has any interest in it, and he resents her assumption of right. If he places it in her name, he does so reluctantly and with the clear understanding that the trick goes not lessen his rights or increase hers.

But men of a higher type—honorable men who are true to their marriage vows—realize that marriage is a true partnership in which rights and liberties are equal, and these may be prompted by sentiment and a sense of fitness to give their wives full ownership of their homes.

The wife makes the home. She prizes it more than her man does. It means more to her than to him because she fears the world more than he does. She covets a shelter and a sense of security. To give her the home is to double her happiness; the gift enriches her without cost to the giver.

But if the home is given to her, she must be worthy of it. And she isn't worthy of it unless she is willing and eager, in time of emergency or disaster, to mortgage or sell it for the good of the partnership.

The woman who can't give as gladly as she takes isn't a partner. She is a mere leech.

There are two classes vitally interested in the coming Christmas fuss. Those who sell goods and those who expect Christmas presents.

A Uniontown, Pa., lady declares her husband became so enraged that he sets his own socks on fire. He must have been hotter than ever after that. Omigosh.

The First Presbyterian church at Mercer has been in existence 125 years and its pastor has resigned after serving 25 years on account of ill health. The church is going to quit and some of the members are going to join the U. P. church, others the Methodist church and some the Second Presbyterian church. Is the time coming, as has been predicted so often, that there are to be less churches?

We have been told from our infancy that sauer kraut is always better the second day after it is cooked. Now we are going to demand that it be served first the second day after it is cooked.

The hotel guest gets his money's worth. He may not take a bath, but the bath towels give his shoes a nice polish.

He had come home late and staggered in. She met him at the door and gave him a terrific beating in the dark. Then she turned on the light.

"Why—you're not my husband!" she gasped.

"Are-are you sure?" he said weakly.

LONELY

When she's away I can do as I please,
But it's little I'm pleased to do.
For, oh, so long seem those hours of ease
That I once looked forward to.
And if this be freedom," I now declare,
"Then sorry am I for him
Who has never been slave to a woman fair
Nor bowed to her slightest whim."

I may go or stay as it suits me best,
But neither I choose to do.
The old-time pleasures have lost their zest
And I cannot adopt the new.
I am much too old for the younger throng,
Too young for the slippered gray;
So, lonely, I shuffle my way along
To the ending of the day.

If this be the freedom which some men boast,
With its right to come and go,
Then it must be slavery I like most
And a woman's "yes" and "no".
For when she's away I am ill at ease,
And ever I find this true:
Though lonely men may do as they please,
It's little I'm pleased to do.

A HICK TOWN—

Is about the best place to look for presidential timber in the rough.
Is a place where the folk know each other well enough to keep still.
Is a place where a funeral excites enough sympathy to close business houses.
Is a place where a man can make friends who will last a lifetime.
Is a community where folk live comfortably on twenty-four hours a day.
Is a place where anybody's trouble is everybody's trouble.
Is a town where church bells can be heard above factory whistles.

Public Accepts With Patience Trial Of Radio Reallocation

Some Dissatisfaction Is Evident, But General View Is That All Concerned Must Co-operate In Solving Problem

Newspaper comment on broadcasting under the Federal Radio Comsion's reallocation reflects public patience and a willingness to await the outcome of a practical trial even on the part of those most dissatisfied with existing difficulties and inequalities.

"The plan is a tremendous experiment, in which all broadcasters and receivers should cooperate so far as possible," says the RUTLAND HERALD, while the TOPEKA DAILY CAPITAL, accepting the view that the regulation must be "in the public interest, convenience and necessity" suggests that "the job of radio supervision is full of trouble, but if the commission in face follows this principal it will serve the greatest interest of the greatest number."

"The radio enthusiasts of the nation," in the opinion of the KALAMAZOO GAZETTE, "have the satisfaction of knowing that their Federal commissioners have struggled bravely with one of the most complex scientific problems of the age, and that the program now in force represents the work of the best 'radio brains' in the country." The JERSEY CITY JOURNAL feels that "it is too soon to tell exactly how great the advantage of this new allocation of wave lengths is to be, but the start has been good and the improvement may prove effective in its main purpose."

"Restrictions irk and in individual cases work out injustice," observes the DES MOINES TRIBUNE-CAPITAL, but it adds that "the freedom of a world of order is more real than the freedom of a world of chaos," and the NASHVILLE BANNER remarks: "It is an egregious error to suppose that the radio fan today cares a penny's worth whether the station he gets is located in Tennessee or Iowa. The thing that does have application is whether one can get the worthwhile program without too much trouble."

"If there is a necessity of nation-wide regulation of this problem, and if Congress had the right to apply or bestow regulatory powers, minor obstacles along the way will not block progress," declares the SIOUX CITY DAILY TRIBUNE, and the ST. PAUL PIONEER PRESS advises: "Until the stations get settled into their new wave lengths, power, and hours of broadcasting, there may be some interference, but the opinion of experts is that reception will be greatly benefited by the changes. Listeners should withhold their judgment while the new arrangement is in the experimental stage."

Patience while matters are being brought nearer to a point of perfection is advised by many papers, including the BALTIMORE SUN, MANCHESTER LEADER and LANSING STATE JOURNAL. The Leader asserts: "There has not been much indication of a disposition to accept the counsel of the commission to be patient during the weeks or months that will be necessary to enable the stations to 'shake down their assignments'." The Sun points out that "the commission frankly stated that it was trying out an experiment, one which had received much scientific and expert consideration."

"The chief beneficiaries of the new arrangement," says the CINCINNATI TIMES-STAR, "are to be listeners-in in the rural districts remote from stations large enough to broadcast chain programs received over the telephone. The idea is reasonable enough. It is true that people in the larger cities have had the better of radio. The trouble is that the reallocation plan forces Cincinnati and the surrounding territory to make an altogether disproportionate sacrifice. We do not know of any large city whose listeners-in have been called upon to give up anything like as much."

The effect on the cities is observed also by the BOSTON TRANSCRIPT, which, however, offers the general opinion: "Many of the city stations which have been operating on a relatively high wave in the past and have been cut down will suffer, perhaps seriously, from building absorption of their signal energy, which cannot be removed. This means that their signal strength will be much lessened and in some cases their signals may not come through. With some listeners, moreover, the fault will be in the receiving sets, which will lack the power to bring the signals through as formerly. Some of the new signals, in fact, may not be on the dials of some of the old sets at all. More modern sets will not have this trouble. Patience for a few days may relieve the general situation."

"Fans will be grateful for any aerial traffic regulation which promises surcease from the conflict that that has torn the ether," says the NEW ORLEANS ITEM, while the BINGHAMTON PRESS reviews the matter in these words: "It is too soon, perhaps, to expect the radio public to pass reasoned judgment upon the success of the changed broadcasting schedules, and all should remember that the ultimate effect sought is greatly improved reception for all parts of the country. * * * If the present reallocations do not work out for the greatest benefits for the greatest number a new plan will be tried."

LANGUAGE

Here's a thoughtful man who deserves a great deal of praise by all Americans. He has written an English grammar that does not contain rules. He give various forms of punctuation and various forms of usage. He quotes authority. He doesn't tell you which or what is right. His name is Dr. George Oliver Curme and he is a teacher in Northwestern university.

It is rather interesting to note that an English publishing house wanted to print Dr. Curme's grammar—which is a three-volume work—but this publishing house considered the American language as a dialect and not really the English language at all. Dr. Curme pointed out that 120,000,000 persons speak this "dialect" and that it is indeed a language. So the book is published in America.

FUNNY

Speaking of the American language, it is surely no queerer and no funnier than the English language of England. And as for dialects it is doubtful if the average London man can even understand his brother Britisher from Yorkshire, unless the Yorkshireman has learned to speak the London tongue.

LANGUAGE AGAIN

Nothing more fascinating than language and the history of languages. This astonishing tool for the communication of thought and ideas—and for the communication of waste products—is a source of marvelous discoveries. Few have any idea of the number of languages and their relationships. Their lack of apparent relationship is one of the chief sources of fascination. The man from Madrid in Spain is unable to understand the citizen of Barcelona in the same country, unless he has learned the language. The people of Madrid speak Spanish and the people of Barcelona speak Catalan.

Latin is the base of much modern language. In the old days it was thought worth while for boys and girls to study Latin that the whole world of language might be opened up to them. Nowadays there is no time for that. The wheels of education have to grind very fast to produce a sufficient supply of cement mixers and radio part markers.

WHAT IS VALUE?

The day that we begin to measure the value of education by cash register figures we have lost both the significance and the joy of education. To know for the intellectual thrill of knowing, to study for the love of cultivating the mind and the memory, to learn for the love of learning are experiences too rich to be bought by dollars.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

LAW OF COMPENSATION

It seems that nothing can be done to improve the condition of the human without hurting some mortals. It is the fishermen of the North Atlantic who are now complaining.

The world's most productive sardine herring industry, situated at the northernmost tip of the United States Atlantic Coast in the Bay of Fundy, is thought to be threatened by power projects.

A special commission has been appointed to investigate the possible disastrous effects on the Passmquoddy and Cobscook Bay sardine herrings by the harnessing of the tides of the Bay of Fundy at St. Andrews-by-the-Sea in New Brunswick.

The investigating commission composed of the Canadian Deputy Minister of Fisheries, Commissioner O'Malley, Dr. H. B. Bigelow of Harvard University and Dr. A. G. Hunstman of the Biological Board of Canada, was appointed by the North American Committee on Fishery Investigations at its recent meeting in Toronto.

The sardine fishery thought threatened by the power project, which would dam both bays with an area of 135 square miles, is declared extraordinarily fertile. The fertility of the waters, which furnishes a constant growth of food material for the young herring, is considered due to the rich bottom water coming up from the sea.

Damming of the bays where the mixing of this rich bottom water and the bay water takes place may change conditions so as to jeopardize existence of this rich fishery.

At the present the fishery yields 100,000,000 pounds of fish every year.

Scientists Discover Way To Convert Coal Into Rubber Making

Synthetic Rubber From Coal Is Latest Invention, German Declares

Process Was Discovered By Germany During Trying World War Period

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 21.—Science is turning coal into rubber. Dr. Fritz Hofmann of Breslau, widely known German scientist, today told more than 2,000 of the world's leading technicians at the second international conference on bituminous coal of the involved processes whereby coal may be manufactured into synthetic rubber.

During the war, according to Dr. Hofmann, when the central powers found themselves cut off from the importation of vegetable rubber, their scientists manufactured 2,500 tons of methol rubber as a substitute.

"Coal is no longer exclusively a fuel," Dr. Hofmann said. "The organic chemical industry with its artificial dyestuffs, its synthetic medicinal drugs, artificial sweetening agents, perfumes and photographic developers is based on the by-products of the refinement of coal."

The complicated process of manufacture of artificial rubber was outlined to the scientists by Dr. Hofmann, who pointed out that the process starts with the transformation of coal into coke, calcium carbide and acetylene. Then through numerous chemical stages the decomposition leads finally to highly volatile, colorless liquid hydrocarbons, the butadines which thicken gradually on being heated, into substances similar to rubber.

Experimentation now under way may perfect the product to a state where it will show the marked resistance to nicking, fiber, elasticity and resistance to exterior influences, he said.

Problems Discussed

Coal cleaning problems were discussed by Dr. Ing. Earl Glintz, professor of the technical institute, Berlin, who discussed the corrolations between the chemical and physical contituents in the product and discussed the utilization of coal.

He went into technical detail on practical methods of cleaning lump, fine and sludge coal, the separation of fusian from coking coal, dewatering, removal of clay and drying of fine coal. He also discussed the importance of flotation and the value of sing split screens.

Dr. R. Lessing of London was the author of a paper on coal cleaning untilizing a method of separation of specific gravity.

F. P. Sperr Jr., director of research for Koppers Company, Pittsburgh, spoke on gas purification in relation to coal sulphur, while C. J. Jefferson of the United States shipping board, Commander J. J. Broshek, U. S. N., of Philadelphia, and Dr. I. P. Goossens of Aschen, Germany, presented papers on pulverized fuel.

Fertilizers were discussed in papers prepared by Rudolf Battig of Westphalia, Germany, and Jean Delmore of Paris, while in the afternoon low temperature distillation, power and combustion, liquefaction and general discussions held the scientists' interest.

Oppose One Man Cars.

The inquiry was centered about the condition of the safety equipment on the Homestead Park car which ran wild down Amity Hill, crashing into the other car and almost cutting it in two.

While the victims were given hospital treatment yesterday, the Homestead Kiwanis met to adopt a resolution scoring the operation of one man cars.

It was believed that yesterday's action may bring the question to a head. The Kiwanis took the stand that the accident might have been averted had two men been in charge, while a mass meeting is to be held Thursday night in Homestead Park Municipal Hall, and another on Friday, sponsored by the Brierly Heights Civic club, to protest against the operation of the one-man type of cars by the Railway Company.

By a miracle, Charles Brenner, of Homestead Park, operator of the Homestead Park car, escaped unhurt when his car made its plunge down the hill.

One-man street cars will be retained in the Pittsburgh district, despite the opposition to the system crystallized by the Homestead crash yesterday, Thomas Fitzgerald, vice-president of the Pittsburgh Railways company told International News Service today.

"The intact retention of lines of the Pittsburgh Railways company has made one-man operation absolutely essential in the Pittsburgh district," Fitzgerald said.

Vestris Officer Denies Ship Was "Crank" Vessel

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Robert Johnson, chief officer of the illfated Vestris, was recalled to the witness stand when the federal investigation of the disaster was resumed today before Commissioner Frances O'Neill. He was grilled at length by Captain E. P. Jessup, official observor for the government. Johnson denied that the Vestris was a "crank" ship or one which would list for no reason.

Jessup asked him if he had noticed listings of the ship on previous voyages. That depended, the witness replied, on the state of the cargo.

"There was a swimming tank and when that was filled with water the ship took a four or five degree list," Jessup said.

Rifled Safe Found In Woods; Sum Of $2,500 Missing: May Lead To Arrests

(International News Service)

FRANKLIN, Pa., Nov. 21.—The discovery of the thousand pound safe, removed from the National Market, Liberty street, on November 11, was today expected by authorities to be the source of clues leading to the probable arrest of the robbers that abandoned it.

With its door chisled opend and the strong-box rifled of its $2,500 contents, the massive steel container was found in a woods six miles north-east of here late yesterday. It was located by Chester Baum, a pumper on an oil lease in that district.

"Model" Questioned By Police Probing Rothstein Murder

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Ruth Keyes, blonde "free lance model" from Chicago, and the last hope of police for solution of the Rothstein murder mystery, faced a barrage of searching questions today at the district attorney's office.

During her tete-a-tete with her questioners a poorly dressed individual, about 28, was hurried into the room by detectives, who rushed him out in 15 minutes. It was reported that he was the "mystery man" who claimed he was an eye-witness of the shooting of Rothstein in the Park Central Hotel.

Pastor's Mentality Tested By Officials

(International News Service)

BARKLEY, Mich., Nov. 21.—Police today announced that they have secured information pointing to the identity of the man believed to have branded the letters "K. K. K." on the shoulders of the Rev. Orrin C. Van Loon, the disappearing pastor, four years ago. The man has fled to Ohio and may be extradited, it was said.

In 1924 Rev. Van Loon disappeared for 11 days. He was found in Battle Creek with the letters "K. K. K." branded on his back. He has never told who branded him.

Last week Rev. Van Loon disappeared again. As in the first disappearance he was found in Battle Creek.

Authorities are making further tests today as to Rev. Van Loons mentality and are searching for code letters he is said to have written to three women members of his flock. Pontiac police said they had taken the letters away from Rev. Van Loon years ago and turned them over to the state police.

was not qualified to testify insofar as the knowledge of the identification card was concerned but that he could testify as an expert. Mr. Sankey then examined some of the checks which had been admitted as standards, and after comparing them with the will signature said that in his opinion the signature was that of Mrs. Nellie M. Dean.

Because of the length of the case, a night session will be held this evening.

Tuesday Afternoon

In the opinion of George W. Wood, a noted handwriting expert, the will of Mrs. Nellie M. Dean, now in dispute, and which dispute is being heard in courtroom two of the Lawrence county courthouse, is genuine and is in the same handwriting as the checks of the late Mrs. Dean which have been established as standards in the case.

Mr. Wood was called at the opening of court on Tuesday afternoon and was qualified as an expert. His qualifications go back over a period of 40 years of practice in the science of handwriting analysis, several courses of study under famous experts and some experience in the translation of foreign languages. He has been used by the United States government, the state governments and municipalities.

Same Writing

While Mr. Wood admitted that there were some slight mechanical differences in some of the signatures, he explained that these would be caused by various conditions under which a person might write. A person sick or fatigued, or under great mental stress would write a different hand than under ordinary circumstances, but in the main the writing would be identical and could easily be seen by any expert.

He then went into a rather detailed explanation of the variances of handwriting, and after examining a number of exhibits and comparing them with the signature card of Mrs. Dean and with the signature on the will, said that, in his opinion, the will signature was that of Mrs. Dean.

His testimony occupied almost the entire afternoon and is apparently being relied upon by the plaintiff to be a large factor in the deciding of the validity of the will signature.

PUBLIC RUSHING PELL-MELL INTO STOCK MARKET

over. The public knows nothing, cares nothing, about values. It is following blindly the leadership of the most skillful and powerful group that ever operated in Wall street, and will follow the will 'o the wisp of profits wherever it leads them.

Situation Dangerous

"Never was the situation in Wall Street as dangerous as it is today. With the floor of the stock exchange inadequately manned, the ticker an hour behind and practically useless as a reflection of activities on the floor of the exchange, a violent reaction in prices, with disastrous results, might easily occur, bringing about a mild panic before the outside world was cognizant of what was going on.

"Those who are buying stocks at current levels are disregarding also the important matter of dividend returns and are discounting the future prosperity of the country too far ahead. Either there must be a corrective reaction or a long period of doldrum markets to permit business to catch up with the market."

"Getting down to the fundamentals" said Wollman, "there can be no doubt of the strong position of American finance, trade and industry. The big business concerns—the steel manufacturers, the motor car builders, the copper and oil companies, are all making money, and ploughing back a good portion of their earnings into their own business. Against the time when bigger demands are to be made on them for goods for the home and foreign markets, they are strengthening their own position and getting their plants ready for larger production. But that is no reason why stock prices should go on skyrocketing without even a corrective reaction."

Plane Industry Advances

Wollman pointed out that the growth of new industries is now making a powerful appeal to people who can afford to speculate over the long range.

"The airplane industry," he declared, "in its growth and appeal to the public investor, in paralleling the automobile and the radio industries in their formative years, and it is probable that much of the history of these two important lines of business will be repeated in the manufacture and utilization of the airplane.

"It is now apparent that the business of the principal manufacturers of planes this year will be about 300 per cent greater than in 1927, the former record year. More than 600 planes are being turned out monthly, and the output by the end of the year will be at the rate of 700 a month. Here is something to fire the imagination of investors as well as traders in purely speculative stocks, for wise selections will mean fortunes to thousands of men who are willing to wait for them."

First Teacher In Fayette County Has 97th Birthday

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Nov. 21.—Mrs. Mary Tilford, the first woman school teacher in Fayette county, and its pride, today observed her ninety-seventh birthday.

There was no celebration but a number of friends visited her in Ninth street, where she lives with a single attendant. Although in poor health to infirmities of age, she has a clear mind and keeps in touch with current events.

Modern youth wouldn't be wild, either, if he could get a thrill by racing a buggy horse up and down Main street.

African Explorer Back Home Tells Of Strange "Missing Link" Colony

Unexplored Jungle North Of Capetown Reveals Weird Tribe Of Pygmies

No Law Except Poisoned Arrow Among Savages; Wives Are Plentiful

By DAVID P. SENTNER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—In 20,000 square miles of tangled, unexplored jungle north of Captown, Africa, dwell stone-age men, who live hand in hand with animals, walk like gorillas, run faster than gazelles—the "missing link" race.

In this unpenetrated region where the lion is king, these "monkey men" hunt with arrows, live in holes, worship a grasshopper for a God and know not that they may be the answer to the riddle of the universe.

Dr. C. E. Cadle, of the Cameron-Cadle expedition of the National Museum of Natural History, of Denver, told of his missing race in an exclusive interview with International News Service today. Dr. Cadle not only has seen them, lived with them and charted them but he returned today on the liner Olympic with a photographic record, including moving pictures, of these seed-men of the human race.

"The lowest form of this tribe are pygmies who stand in their nakedness up to your armpit," said Dr. Cadle. "They represent the only true democracy in the world—where every man is his own boss.

"They take as many wives as they can support by hunting. As food is precarious, more than two or three wives is a luxury. And families are small for the women kill their babies if there are too many.

"There is no law except the poisoned arrow. They are a slight, wiry race, like all hunting people. They are vicious, unsocial and child-like. They are as primitive as their ancestors of a million years ago. Their only sign of civilization is their folk lore which is in terms of animals, plants and the stars.

"When a youth desires a wife, he will pursue a gazelle for twelve hours or so to show his prowess. Then he will drive the exhausted animal into the presence of his intended. He does not ask—he takes his bride. They go to live before a wind-breaker, a crude collection of brambles.

"We believe that this race will be one of the important links in the proof of man's evolution from animals. I believe that within twenty years science will have an indisputable chain of evidence to support the evolutionary theory, which practically all scientific men firmly believe in.

Three Hundred Books Added To Shenango School Library

Shenango Township High School Announces Donors To School Library

Teachers Of School Meet This Evening; Other Notes Of School

Some three hundred new books have been recently bought and placed in the Shenango Township High School. Some 250 of these are already in circulation today, states Clare Book, principal.

These make a total now of some 550 books in the school library which still means that the library is short some 100 volumes, according to the state requirements.

Although there have been several donations and purchases, the library is still short and any donations of books to the school would be welcomed.

Practically all of the new books purchased were fiction which is required on the state reading lists. There were also a number of reference books secured.

Library Donations

Four persons have made major donations to the Shenango Township school library recently.

Attorney C. W. Fenton donated a 6 volume set of United States history; a 4 volume set of Pennsylvania history; and one volume of Lawrence county history; J. O. Houston gave a complete set of Eugene Field's works; Mrs. Nannie Hook donated a 20 volume American Encyclopedia; and Earnest Cowley gave a 5 volume set of musical appreciation books.

Magazine Campaign

As a result of the recent magazine campaign carried on by students of the school, $90 was received and used in the school library.

A new International encyclopedia was purchased with the money earned by the students.

As the magazine campaign is carried on twice each year by students, they hope to make a permanent library fund from the money that they receive.

Given Immunization

One hundred eighty five pupils of the school were examined and given toxin antitoxin during the past week by Dr. Earl Seal, deputy health officer for this county. Last year, approximately twice this number took the antitoxin.

Teachers Meet Tonight

This evening at 7:30 there will be a meeting of all teachers in the school auditorium. This will be the regular meeting and school problems will be discussed as well as work outlined.

Boys Basketball

Some 20 boys now remain on the boys varsity basketball squad of the high school. The original squad of 35 has been cut recently by Coach G. W. Johnston.

A captain of the team will be elected following the close of the season, it being an honorary position. A captain is appointed prior to each game. Joseph Shaftic captained last year's squad.

Girls Basketball

Eighteen girls are now fighting for positions on the girls varsity basketball squad. Miss Marion Cotton is coach of the girls' team.

James McCleary, Russell Book, Glenn Humphrey and Jennings Humphrey have returned from Elk and Forest counties where they enjoyed several days hunting.

Charles Miller, Ansel Connell, Homer Cooper and Mr. Gearlach left Thursday for a trip south. They expect to spend a portion of time at Washington, D. C., and take in the National Grange meet now in session.

Word has been received by friends of Mrs. Ellen Vosler and son Joe of their arrival at the home of the formers brother, S. S. Shields of Milton, Oregon. They report a pleasant trip, good weather, good roads and no auto trouble.

The ladies of the U. P. Missionary Society met at the church on Friday evening where the annual thank offering service was held. The service opened by music followed by Bible reading by Mrs. Florence Dickey and prayer by Mrs. Grossman. After which the Junior Society gave a very interesting program, followed by the offering. Lunch was served by social committee. There were about 70 present.

The proposal to take a census of public debts is to be soundly condemned. No one will be able to read the total.

JOHN COOLIDGE MAY WED, BUT NOT ON SALARY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—John Coolidge the president's son may be engaged to Florence Trumbull, daughter of the governor of Connecticut but he will not marry until he is earning a salary sufficient to support a wife "on his own."

This was indicated in White House social circles today following a statement made in New Orleans by Miss Trumbull in confirmation of the reports of the engagement. The president himself had nothing to say.

A formal announcement of the engagement is expected soon.

In view of the fact that as a clerk in the New Haven railroad offices John is said to be making $100 a month which he does not consider sufficient for two young persons to live on, the wedding probably will not take place while his father is in the White House it was said.

Plan Building To House Farm Show

Will Be Included In Recommendations Of Governor To Assembly

HARRISBURG, Nov. 21.—Provision for the construction of a building to house the annual state farm products show will be included in the budget recommendations which the governor will make to the next session of the general assembly.

Since the first show was held in Harrisburg the various organizations interested in it have urged that provision be made to house the exhibits under one roof.

In past years it has been necessary for the show management to secure temporary use of auditoriums and garages in scattered sections of the city. For a visitor to see all the exhibits and attend a small part of the meetings it was necessary to travel to separate buildings. The largest building formerly used for the annual show is now occupied by the bureau of publications, and part of it will be used for the storage of state records.

Two sites, one of them on the ground owned by the Harrisburg State hospital, are under consideration.

Store On Lake Erie Island Fails To Attract Rush Of Patrons Expected

SANDUSKY, O., Nov. 21.—Pelee Island's liquor store, permit for which issued more than a month ago by the Ontario anthorities was opened last Friday.

But apparently none on the Ohio mainland knew about it until this morning when John M. Miller former deputy collector of internal revenue here, received the "individual license permit' for which he had filed an application and paid $2 shortly after it was announced that Pelee was to have a store.

Yes, the fact remained unknown Friday, Saturday, Sunday and Monday, notwithstanding that it was generally supposed that Sandusky "could hardly wait" and that once the store was doing business there would be a fleet of small craft skurrying between Sandusky and Pelee.

Re-Elect Griffin As District Head

Mahoning District Sabbath School Convention At Westfield

ADDRESS IS MADE BY REV. McCLURE

P. W. Griffin was re-elected president of the Mahoning district of the Lawrence County Sabbath School association at the annual convention held Tuesday at the Westfield Presbyterian church, afternoon and evening sessions.

Other officers elected were: Vice president, A. W. Leslie; secretary, Miss Mary Kelso; treasurer, Frank Hoffmeister; children's division superintendent, Miss Agnes Davidson; home department superintendent, Mrs. C. Bonnett; teacher training superintendent, Mrs. J. H. McClelland; temperance superintendent, Rev. Leon Woodin; adult division superintendent, A. H. Fullerton; young people's division superintendent, Rev. George N. Neill; missions superintendent, C. W. Stewart; administration superintendent, Rev. H. H. Davidson; parent training superintendent, Rev. Robert Hamill; religious training superintendent, Rev. Ross M. Haverfield.

The place of the next convention will be the Enon Valley Presbyterian church, it having been 13 years since it entertained the district convention.

The evening session was unusually well attended and the inspiring address of the evening was delivered by Rev. Walter E. McClure, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of New Castle. The officers were installed at the evening session by the county president, Robert M. Strickler, Jr., and special recognition was later given to those in the various Sabbath schools of the district that had read the New Testament through during the past year. The results of this were especially gratifying as the Westfield Presbyterian had 57, the Mount Jackson U. P. had 47, the Bessemer Presbyterian had 38, the Bethel U. P. had 35, the Enon Valley Christian had 11, the Edenburg M. E. had eight and the Enon Valley Presbyterian had six—all of these having met the requirement. Their names will be published in a later issue. Next year the Old Testament will be taken up and those not having read the New Testament will be allowed to do so and receive credit.

At the afternoon session Rev. H. H. Davidson had charge of the devotionals, A. H. Fullerton extended the welcome with the response by the district president, P. W. Griffin; music by Mt. Jackson U. P., after which the following subjects were treated: Qualified for Home Life, the father, by Mrs. R. R. Throop; the mother, by J. V. Brewster; Qualified for Sabbath School Teaching, W. A. Scott and Rev. Robert Hamill; Qualified as an Executive, Charles Stewart and Rev. Ross M. Haverfield; Qualified as a Soul Winner, James Kelso and Rev. W. J. Engle.

The county president, Mr. Strickler, brought greetings from the county association and the county secretary, Mrs. William J. Marshall, gave an interesting report of the recent state convention.

The entertainment committee was composed of Mrs. J. A. Weller, Miss Edna Cox and Mrs. D. J. Gibson, and a fine dinner was served to visiting delegates.

At the evening session Rev. George N. Neill had charge of the devotionals, the Westfield Presbyterian choir rendered a beautiful anthem, the Bethel U. P. furnished music and the quartet from the Edenburg Christian church gave a pleasing number.

"John, here is five shillings. Fetch my mother-in-law from the station."

"But if she is not there?"

"Then you will get another five shillings."—Der Gemutliche Sachse, Leipzig.

Roaming Round With Richards

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

Some sage one time remarked that clothes do not make the man. And for many years there has been an inarticulate disagreement in my mind with the author of this axiom. For, reasoned I silently, impressions are created by appearances, and clothes make the appearances.

But the mental resistance to this old saw is rapidly being broken down, and Tuesday night saw this resistance takes a real cut on the chin.

Roamed down to Pittsburgh with some of the druggists to hear Senator Arthur Capper of Kansas and Congressman M. Clyde Kelly of Braddock speaking on the Capper-Kelly "Fair Trade Bill."

On the stage were many well dressed men, some of them in tuxedo, some of them in well tailored, high priced suits. They looked and acted like successful, prosperous men.

But not Senator Capper. As you may know he is the publisher of a chain of farm weeklies, and in the middle west the name of Capper is powerful. In the United States Senate he is a crusader, standing out against corruption, monopoly, and the predatory interests.

But if clothes make the man, Capper would have been away down the list. The suit he had on was one of these snappy models one sees advertised for about $18.00. His shoes were the kind that would stand a tramp over a plowed field. The shirt he had on might have cost $1.29, and the necktie looked as though it had been thrown in. His hair was mussed and his general appearance was that of a middle class laborer out for an evening.

But when the man started to talk you forgot his dress, his lack of superficialities and you only heard the man himself. And while he spoke and I thought of his dress, I wondered if I had made a mistake in having the old suit cleaned to go down there.

It's all very puzzling.

The Boulevard of the Allies is now completed through to Oakland and that old rough ride up Forbes street or Fifth avenue is done away with. A ride that takes you along the fringe of giant industries, belching out smoke and soot, but turning out products that pay for first editions and old masterpieces.

Met an old New Castle man at the meeting, Judge Al Brandon. Al as you remember him is as thin as ever, as lanky as ever, and as genial as ever.

Officers Report Supply Of Liquor

Raid Conducted At The McAnallen Place On West North Street

County Detective William Fleming, State Police Officers Munsee and Schmidt, Constables A. S. Leslie and Mescal and Lieutenant of Police Peter Hillers last night visited and searched the home of William McAnallen, 19 West North street.

Efforts to locate liquor believed to be in the place had almost been abandoned, when six gallons in half pints, pints and gallon containers were found under the second step of the stairs leading to the second floor of the McAnallen apartment, according to the officers.

McAnallen was taken before Alderman William E. Marshall, where a charge of violating the Snyder act was made against him. In default of $1,500 bail he was placed in the county jail to await a hearing on Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Sage Tea Dandy to Darken Hair

By DOROTHY LANG

You can turn gray, faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous almost over night if you'll get a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" at any drug store. It costs only 75 cents. Millions of bottles of this old famous Sage Tea Recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, are sold annually, says a well-known druggist, because it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied.

Those whose hair is turning gray or becoming faded have a surprise awaiting them, because after one or two applications the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautiful.

This is the age of youth. Gray-haired, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound to-night and you'll be delighted with your dark, handsome hair and your youthful appearance within a few days.

Girl Reserves Have College Night Event

Sixty-Six Present At Girl Reserve Dinner In Y. W. C. A.

A college atmosphere was prevalent at the Senior Girl Reserve College Night Tuesday evening in the third dining room of the Y. W. C. A. At 5:30 there was a dinner. Sixty-six were present.

The purpose of this College Night was for the members of the Girl Reserves at Senior High to get definite information concerning various kinds of schools.

The third floor dining room presented a college appearance. Pennants from various schools and colleges decorated the walls, tables were attractive in college colors, balloons were tied to chairs and Indian blankets and cushions gave the room a college appearance. A delicious dinner was served.

Miss Arabella Cobau president of the Senior Girl Reserves was in charge. Pep singing was a feature and was led by Miss Louise Crandall. Five speakers told the girls about different kinds of schools and their advantages. Speakers were as follows:

Miss Mary Riffer spoke to the girls about "Shall I go to College, Should I go and Why?"

Mrs. Mary Reed Smith spoke about small co-ed schools.

Miss Helen Maxwell spoke of Universities and their advantages.

Miss Marian Wallace gave a talk about Girl's schools.

Miss Edith Birchard spoke about specialized schools.

All speakers were interesting and the Senior High Girl Reserves benefitted by them obtaining much information. The evening's program closed with singing the high school song.

Men's Clothing Is Needed At Mission

Men's clothing is needed at the City Rescue Mission, state mission officers, and if any one should have any men's garments that they would care to donate, the mission will be more than grateful.

At the present time, there are more calls than clothes, and the mission will call for donations. Call the mission house, phone 430, and a worker will call for clothes.

The City Mission and the Associated Charities are working together on the clothes need in the city.

All women's and girls' clothes should be sent to the Associated Charities on East street.

Mrs. Humphreys Tells Aftermath Of Election Upset Down In Florida

Difficulties which the minor political parties in Florida have even in getting their candidates' names on the ballots forms the major part of a letter to The News, written by Mrs. K. C. Humphreys of St. Cloud, Fla.

Mrs. Humphreys also tells about a sea fishing trip, which should prove of interest to all local anglers. Her letter follows:

Editor, The News,
New Castle, Pa.

Perhaps it is a little late to discuss the election, but it is only today, ten days after the event, that figures are available on which we can base an analysis. True, we went over safely with our six electoral votes to swell Mr. Hoover's majority, but we did not go Republican in any other sense of the word. Nor could it be expected that we would. It is rather difficult to explain where both parties are recognized and have been for generations, but the Republican party in the southern states must build their organization from the bottom up. To declare oneself a Republican when registering was to put one outside any chance of having a choice of candidates. A Republican is not allowed to vote in the Democratic primaries and until a party polls 30 per cent of the total votes, said party cannot hold their own primary.

That is a brief statement of the difficulties we faced in the election or rather of some of the difficulties. There are others too numerous to mention. Our candidates must be put on the ballot by petition and where it could be shown that they had voted in the Democratic primary were denied the right to have their names printed on the ballot. This occurred in our county although two candidates for state treasurer, who also had taken part in the primary were printed in and one of them declared elected. Under these handicaps and with a split party whose difficulties had to be adjusted at Kansas City, we think we made a fairly good showing.

What was accomplished was to give the Republicans a standing as a party with the right to nominate in the regular way. Just how we will fare in the elections remains to be seen. I think I intimated in a former letter that Florida election laws were not ideal. Since I have come into closer contact with them I have been searching for a descriptive adjective mean enough to apply to them. To date the best I can do is to say they are the limit. Most of them have been passed by the dominant party for the purpose of shutting out any opposition. The biggest plums locally are tax collector, assessor and county commissioners. The two former offices in our county seem to be regarded as life jobs, the latter shifting a little and with the system in force easily controlled. The county commissioners appoint the election boards. The election boards count the votes which elect the commissioners. Which was first I do not know. Maybe we can decide that when we settle which was first, the hen or the egg, who struck Betty Patterson or how old is Ann.

The Tampa Tribune in summing up results, basing its findings on the Hoover-Carlton-Howey vote rates it thus: Democrats 100,000, Republicans 90,000, Hoover Democrats 45,000. What the alignment will be with a candidate more to the taste of southern Democrats than was Smith remains to be seen in 1932. It will not be one-sided as heretofore. The recent campaign was a revelation to the younger natives and an education as well. Many learned for the first time that there were two fairly respectable sides to the political question. Tons of literature were distributed and was well received. Wherever there is northern development there are good schools and illiteracy is giving way. There are not many native homes now without someone who can read. Schools are, however, largely in the hands of rabid southern sectionalists, who are doing their utmost to perpetuate their political views. The press is likewise controlled by the dominant party. In order to get their candidates before the people in our own county the non-partisan organization was compelled to hire printed a four-page sheet, once a week, and distribute it by hand.

I attempted to get one of the Tampa papers which was making much of the color question, to publish a clipping from The "News" regarding the negro candidate for congress from St. Louis, but did not succeed. All such information had to be put in as paid advertising. But this is enough of politics.

We varied our program last week, or rather for some weeks, as we have not been having our regular Thursday fishing trips. Monday was observed as Armistice day and we celebrated by a trip to Eau Gallie where our dinner celebrated the birthdays of Mrs. Ogle and Dr. McLaren.

The day was fine, but the ocean too rough for fishing. It was still showing the effects of the storm which was so disastrous to the "Vestris". When we arrived about 9 a. m. the waves were breaking against the pier shrouding it in foam at every impact. As the ide went out it became possible to get the lines out but only one fisherman was successful in hooking a fish, a fine sea bass. All other lines came in at once, giving him clearance for the fight to land but the fish won out and departed with part of the tackle. Later the same man landed another fish which was the total of the catch.

We ate supper and left at 5 p. m. as the tide was too high for fishing. This is a place not widely known but a good point at which to enjoy sea fishing. It is the only pier between Orlando and Miami, I think. There is a casino under construction, nearly finished, with dining hall with open fire. The second floor has housekeeping apartments and single rooms. The prices are reasonable. One also has a chance of fishing in the Indian river and its tributaries from the base. The peninsula here is about a mile across. Motorists to Palm Beach and Miami would do well to note this place. Cross the bridge east of Eau Gallie and continue across peninsula to the ocean.

Here is another bit of good news culled from the morning's issue of the Tampa Tribune. The motorcade opening up the new coastal highway is now on its way from Washington, D. C. to Jacksonville. This is the ideal route between the north and south. It can be reached easily from the Shenandoah route.

Tourists are coming in rapidly. We are scanning passing machines to locate the Billo's. When last reported they had reached Bedford, Pa. Mrs. Bethune of Wilkinsburg got in last week and is at the Penn-Flora. The Pennsylvania hotel is under new management this year.

Weather is cool and fruit is coloring rapidly. Much which looks too green is going to the packing houses and the usual squabble is on against flooding the market with green fruit. If you want good Florida oranges do not buy for a month yet. What you get now is ripened artificially after being picked and not good.

MRS. K. C. HUMPHREYS,
Saint Cloud, Fla.,
Nov. 17, 1928.

P. S.—Here is one which would have done for your "What Tourists Saw" column when it was in vogue. It is on the fish house at the bridge coming from Kissimmee to St. Cloud. The sign on the fish house is a very life-like fish painted on a board some five or six feet long. Some wag has sketched "Jeff" on the siding of the building looking at the fish. With high hat tilted on the back of his head and hands in pockets he is pictured saying, "Well, I bet the man who caught that fish is a liar."

Lucky?

When she comes to the footlights to acknowledge Broadway's applause of her marvelous dancing in "Sidewalks of New York," theatre-goers sit forward to admire her youthful charms; the fresh crispness of her rose-petal skin and her gleaming black hair. She's Virginia Clark, of 143 Twenty-third St., Jackson Heights, New York City.

"When friends say I'm lucky to have such clear skin and soft, shining hair," says Miss Clark, "I have to tell them it isn't luck at all. In my case, it's the result of care. For my hair, I use the simple method that's all the rage among New York girls now. It's so easy. All you do is put a little Danderine on your brush each time you use it. This makes my scalp feel just grand and keeps away all dandruff. It keeps my hair and scalp so clean I don't have to shampoo nearly as often as I did. It makes my hair soft and easy to dress; holds it in place; and gives it more lustre than brilliantine!"

Danderine quickly removes that oily film from your hair; brings out its natural color; makes it fairly sparkle. Dandruff disappears when you use Danderine. Waves, set with it stay in longer. It isn't oily and doesn't show. All drug stores have the generous 35c bottles. Over five million used a year!

Fire Tower To Be Guide To Aviators

Power For Night Guiding Lights Will Be Transmitted To Towers

HARRISBURG, Nov. 21.—Many of the forest fire observation towers maintained by the Pennsylvania department of forests and waters for the location of forest fires are used as landmarks by aviators in their long-distance flights.

Secretary Charles E. Dorworth of the Pennsylvania department of forests and waters said today that arrangements have been completed by which a large beacon light will be placed on the Old Town forest observation tower located one mile east of Clearfield. This tower is near the emergency landing field of the United States mail service, and the power for the light will be transmitted through conduits which will be erected along one of the standards of the tower, and will so concealed that there will be no danger of contact with the line.

The site of the Old Town tower comprises about ten acres and is located in the Moshannon state forest district. District Forester Dague contemplates developing the tower site as a recreational area by the planting of ornamental trees, erection of park shelters, construction of fire places, and by laying out recreational areas which may be used for baseball and tennis.

Argument Settled At Public Library

Origin Of Obscure Statement Is Traced By Miss Frances Geddes

"Fellow citizens: God reigns, and the government at Washington lives!"

The authorship of these words and the circumstances under which they were spoken formed a question at the public library this week. They were variously attributed to Garfield, Lincoln and earlier orators. The quest continued for several days by several staff members, but was finally ended by Miss Frances Geddes' discovery that the words were spoken by Garfield from a balcony of the New York custom house to a mob frenzied by news of President Lincoln's death.

The information was found in Historical Collections of Ohio, by Henry Howe.

Florence Trumbull Admits Engagement To John Coolidge

"Will Be Married, But Not In White House", Tells Reporters Down South

(International News Service)

NEW ORLEANS, La., Nov. 21.—Florence Trumbull, daughter of Governor John H. Trumbull of Connecticut, told newspaper men here Tuesday that she and John Coolidge, son of the president, would be married.

There will be no White House wedding, however, Miss Trumbull said. She did not say where the ceremony would be held.

"There has been no formal announcement of our engagement made," she said. "But I might as well admit we are engaged, it seems to be accepted as a fact everywhere."

Miss Trumbull is here with her father and mother. Governor Trumbull is attending the governors' conference.

Plan Large Parade For Inauguration Of Herbert Hoover

Interests Also Agitate For Inaugural Ball After Ceremonies

(Special To The News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 21. — Determined to introduce him to the presidency in a real, old fashioned way, certain interests in Washington are planning a greater amount of pomp and display for the inauguration of president elect Herbert Hoover than has marked the taking of office of any president during recent years.

The president elect has expressed his preference for a simple inauguration, but present plans call for the revival of the old time parade, and there is agitation also for an inaugural ball. Not since Woodrow Wilson first came into office has there been an inauguration comparable to those of former years when delegates came by special trains from all sections of the country. When Wilson was inaugurated the second time, war clouds were looming, and both Harding and Coolidge frowned on anything of an elaborate character.

Recent inaugurations have had only about as much of a parade as was necessary for an escort from the retiring and incoming presidents, while in former years it was customary for the various states to send their governors, national guard regiments and bands to participate in the inaugural parade.

Says Ten Herbs Helped Her In Wonderful Way

New Castle Lady Claims New Medicine Put Her On Road to Health

"Ten Herbs certainly has helped me in a wonderful way," was the recent statement of Mrs. Mary Oleszycki, 1902 Penn Avenue, New Castle, to the Ten Herbs Man, who is at Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., 30 East

MRS. MARY OLESZYCKI

Washington street, this city, where he is daily demonstrating this celebrated new herbal compound to crowds of men and women of all ages.

"Before using your medicine, I was in a badly run-down condition," Mrs. Oleszycki continued. "I felt weak—seemed to be aging before my time. Indigestion caused considerable pain. My appetite failed me completely, and I dreaded to eat. What little I ate filled me with gas, and a substance as sour as vinegar would come up in my throat. I became so nervous that the slightest noise annoyed me. Severe headaches came on me, and I would get so dizzy that I would have to stand still a minute and close my eyes to recover my balance. There were sharp pains in my back and loins. My rest was broken by having to arise several times during the night.

"After reading about Ten Herbs in the paper, I purchased a bottle, and was soon on the road that leads back to health. My digestion has improved, and gas and nauseated feeling have been greatly relieved. My appetite is improving in a splendid way, and I can retain food. Dizzy spells have passed away, and headaches are not so severe as they used to be. My nerves are in good condition, and the pains in my back and loins have been very much relieved, so that I can enjoy a good night's rest. I shall continue using Ten Herbs for awhile, as I feel sure it will soon give me glorious health. I gladly recommend Ten Herbs to other sufferers."

The Ten Herbs Man is at Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., 30 East Washington street, this city, where he is daily meeting the public and explaining the merits of this medicine.

Hear Addresses On Fire Fighting

Sharon Chief Speaks At New Wilmington; May Get New Apparatus

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Nov. 21. — Two hundred New Wilmington citizens gathered at the citizen's banquet, held in the local United Presbyterian church Monday evening, to hear Mayor Frank Gilbert and Fire Chief Vanderholt of Sharon speak on the subject of fire fighting and fire prevention.

Both of the Sharon officials gave clear and instructional talks and pledged their help and advice to the New Wilmington people if a new fire-fighting system was installed here. Mr. Vanderholt gave some very good advice concerning the purchase of new equipment.

Mr. J. J. Francis, the local fire chief gave a talk about conditions in the college town and Jack Hulme spoke on recreation work. Dr. W. Charles Wallace of the college spoke in commendation of the local volunteer fire department. A resolution which extended the thanks and appreciation of the town for the efforts of the volunteer fire department in the past was proposed by Dr. S. A. Kirkbride and unanimously passed the meeting.

No definite action was taken at the meeting but the prevailing opinion was that a new organization and new equipment should be given to the local fire department. Much enthusiasm was noticed at the banquet.

Practice for the basketball team of the college town high school begins here this evening under the tutelage of coach C. H. Olsen. No intensive drill will be started until a little later in the season.

HELP KIDNEYS BY DRINKING MORE WATER

Take Salts to Flush Kidneys and Help Neutralize Irritating Acids

Kidney and bladder irritations often result from acidity, says a noted authority. The kidneys help filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it may remain to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread; the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again, there is difficulty in voiding it.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is often one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Begin drinking lots of soft water, also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast. Continue this for two or three days. This will help neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer are a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs, which then act normal again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by acid irritation. Jad Salts causes no bad effects whatever.

Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink which may quickly relieve your bladder irritation.

Girls Are Named In Popularity Contest

Both Rainbow Girls And Builders To Be Represented In Winter Circus

Backed by 450 members of their respective organizations, "Miss Rainbow" and "Miss Builders" will be two of the competitors in the popularity contest to be conducted in conjunction with the Winter Circus and Frolic, opening at The Cathedral Saturday evening, December 8, and continuing through the week of December 10, announces Herbert Peairs, manager of The Cathedral.

Miss Ruth McComb of 402 Moody avenue was elected Miss Rainbow at a meeting of the Rainbow Girls which took place at The Cathedral Monday evening. At the same time, The Builders elected Miss Ruth Calahan of 130 Boyles avenue as "Miss Builders". Details of the popularity contest can be had by calling Mr. Peairs at The Cathedral. Prizes will be awarded to the most popular girl.

The Winter Circus and Frolic, arranged to raise funds for The Cathedral, promises to be one of the most gala events ever to take place in New Castle or Lawrence county. Aided as the management is by one of the largest stages in the country, circus acts that could be booked for a winter showing in no other city, are scheduled to come to New Castle the week of December 10.

Chief among these, Manager Peairs is arranging for an entire animal circus of national prominence. The circus proper will be fortified with aerial and wire walking acts from the greatest circuses in America.

STARTS WRESTLING CLASS AT Y. M. C. A.

The next war for territory probably will be between the people who want parking space and those who want golf courses.—The Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

SUGAR MAKES EATING A JOY

Why eat unflavored, unappetizing foods?

A change is coming over the well-informed eating ideas of this country. For a time, food faddists tried to make us believe that we had to eat all kinds of things we didn't like in order to be healthy.

Good sense is beginning to assert itself and we now know that the foods that are good for us may also be the most enjoyable. In fact, if we don't like the healthful foods, we probably won't eat them.

Prominent medical and other scientific authorities are now reminding us that appetizing flavors may be developed and improved by sugar. One well-known scientist, for example, states that "fruit flavors are developed by sugar. Fruit acids are softened by sugar."

The only safe rule for a healthful diet is to eat as large a variety of foods as possible, including healthful cereals, fruits and vegetables made appetizing to the taste by the judicious use of sugar. Sugar is not only nutriment in its least costly form. It is Nature's perfect flavor. Sugar develops the appetizing quality of nearly all fruits. Desserts of fresh or cooked fruits are growing more and more popular. Modern candy containing fruits, nuts and pure sugar is delicious and satisfying at the end of a meal.

No one should overeat or underexercise, but everyone, in order to be healthy, should eat plenty of healthful foods and enjoy them. The Sugar Institute.

Bessemer Plants Sponsor Safety Meeting Tuesday

Some 800 Persons Attend Safety Meeting In Bessemer High Tuesday Evening

Some 800 members of the personnel of two plants and their families attended the safety meeting which took place Tuesday evening in the auditorium of the Bessemer High School. The meeting was sponsored by the Bessemer Limestone and Cement and Metropolitan Paving Brick Companies of Bessemer.

The main speaker of the evening was James A. Kilty, Pittsburgh, of the Western Pennsylvania safety council. Mr. Kilty emphasized his talk by the statement that 23,000 persons were killed in industries during the past year, and stated that safety in the home was perhaps the greatest need and most neglected phase of it.

A safety film, "First Aid" was shown as was a feature picture entitled "Alaska." Music for the affair was furnished by the Bessemer High School orchestra under the direction of Joseph Martin, and the Grist orchestra of Hillsville.

The meeting was in charge of A. J. Eales, safety director of the cement company and Roy Wallis of the brick manufacturers.

Evidence Tightens In Rum Ring Probe

Officials Withhold Information Gleaned From Alfred W. Forney

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 21.—Holding off testimony of Alfred W. Forney, serving a six-month term in the county jail following his trial in the rum ring conspiracy case, federal attorneys were expected to center their prosecution on the 46 defendants today by presenting further evidence against them.

During the past two days Forney, who may result in the trump witness for the government, has been closeted with United States Attorney John D. Meyer, though there is little reason to believe that he has done any "talking". Rumors are that Forney fears to make a clean breast of what he knows because he is now the center of the Allegheny county vice probe because of his slot machine activities and that any statement before the federal court would be used against him by the state courts.

The activities of three clubs and the names of four new alleged "booze" dispensers were injected into the trial for the first time yesterday. That the government believes there has already been sufficient proof introduced to convict a score or more of them became known when about 50 waiting witnesses were notified that they would not be called.

Robert Stewart Is Acquitted Of Perjury Charges

Capital Jury, Out 52 Minutes, Says Standard Oil Official "Not Guilty"

SECOND ACQUITTAL IN BIG OIL CASE

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—Colonel Robert W. Stewart, chairman of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, was acquitted Tuesday by a jury in District of Columbia supreme court on a charge of perjury.

The jury was out only 55 minutes.

It was the second time Stewart has been acquitted in criminal trials growing out of his alleged connection with the naval oil reserve scandals. In an earlier trial he was freed of contempt for refusing to answer questions propounded by the Senate oil committee.

In the present trial Stewart was accused of having sworn falsely to the Senate public lands committee about his possession of $759,500 of the profits of the mysterious Continental Trading Company. Part of the Continental bonds were traced from Harry F. Sinclair, oil man, to ex-Secretary of Interior Albert B. Fall.

Although there were indications that more than one ballot was taken in reaching the verdict, the jury, by agreement among themselves, refused to discuss the case after they were discharged.

The nine men and three women making up the jury remained in the courtroom and held an informal reception with Stewart, the three women being particularly effusive in their congratulations of the oil man.

Stewart Is Silent

"The verdict speaks for itself," was the only statement either Stewart or his attorney, Frank J. Hogan, would make.

Col. Stewart expects to return to Chicago within the next 24 hours.

Demand for Stewart's conviction for "wilful, deliberate perjury" was made to the jury in the final argument of United States Attorney Leo Rover.

"You know now that he knew a lot about the Continental Trading Company's bonds," Rover told the jury. "His one purpose was to conceal his information. Stewart was a lawyer and skilful. His intelligence was above the average. He evaded, he refused to answer, and then he made certain answers which we have shown were false. I call upon you for his conviction as a perjurer."

Hogan immediately followed with a plea for acquittal.

"This case lies at the door of a couple of politicians and of sensational yellow journalism," he said. "It has passed the bounds of prosecution and become nothing more or less than persecution."

Parents Understood This Baby's Language

"We thought we were going to lose our baby, teething," says a Kentucky mother. "He couldn't digest anything and was getting thinner every day. After one of his fretful, crying nights, I thought of Castoria and got some. A few drops made him comfortable, and after a few doses, he seemed like a different baby." Doctors everywhere recommend purely-vegetable, harmless Fletcher's Castoria for colds, constipation, colic and other ills of babies and children, and million of mothers know its gentle-influence is best. Avoid imitations. The Fletcher signature is the mark of genuine Castoria.

Divine Healing Is Again Theme

Evangelist Erickson Speaks To Crowd Of 2,000 At Tabernacle

LADIES' BIBLE CLASS ATTENDS IN BODY

Like salvation, divine healing is simply a matter of faith and not of feeling. We have feeling after we're saved, but to first be saved it takes faith. Faith must exist, then healing will come.

It was in a like manner that Evangelist C. H. Erickson brought a message on the subject of healing to a large crowd of men, women and children in the audience at Everybody's gospel tabernacle, corner of South Mill and Friendship streets, Tuesday night. Although the air was somewhat crisp and conditions in general a bit downheartening, the evangelist saw almost 2,000 persons file into the hall to hear his sermon and to enjoy the praise selections of the audience and colored quintet.

Rev. Erickson announced his text as the 17th chapter of Luke, the 11th verse, which from that verse on brings out the story of Jesus and his meeting with the lepers. Ten in all asked Him to have mercy upon them and to heal them.

"Now in this day," said Rev. Erickson—"we know that there is scarcely anything harder to cure than leprosy. In fact we know nothing to do for it, but to ostracize all who fall victims to the dread disease. Yet in the Bible we are told that Jesus attempted to heal the lepers when they offered up their cries; He asked certain things of them, and required them to do as He said; He also tested their faith. The Lord is able and will heal any and the worst of disease of today, like He did then, if the sick ones have faith.

"Some are too far off from Jesus to ask for help. Yes, perhaps that's true, but if those persons really want Jesus and healing all they must do is show their faith. No matter how deep down in sin a person is, when he really prays to God, he'll be healed.

"Jesus didn't cleanse the ten lepers of their sickness all at once. No, He told them to do certain things; to do things that would test their faith in Him.

"We sometimes think that feeling counts first. It doesn't. Faith comes before feeling, and to realize this one must first of all have confidence and conviction. We can't see if our eyes are not open; no, not until we open our eyes. Such it is with divine healing. We can't nave feeling before we have faith.

"What God wants everyone to do is to trust His word. The devil is constantly at work doing his best to make us doubt it. The lepers which Jesus cleansed were not healed before they started walking. In starting, they had confidence that God would do for them as He said He would. And He did.

"Healing is a matter of faith and not of feeling. Conviction first, and then, thank God, the feeling comes. The lepers had to perform like well men even though they were not. That's how they were healed.

"Put your case in God's hand today. We have confidence in aviators because they have had five, six or ten years' experience in running a plane. Why not put your life in the hands of a God who has been working a thousand years on this one thing? If we'll do our part, He will surely do His. Trust your case to the Lord."

In closing, Rev. Erickson said that trusting means to let go of all things natural, to give God complete control. As soon as your faith causes you to go, act and do for Him, then God will heal.

Along with other listeners in the audience last night were more than 64 members of the Ladies' Bible class of the Epworth Methodist church. They were applauded when asked to arise. According to Evangelist Erickson, other similar organizations are planning to attend and witness the services.

Gargle Listerine

kills germs in 15 seconds

ARE you miserable half of the time—a needless slave to sore throat?

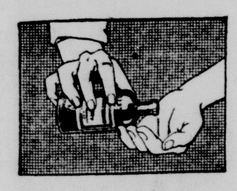
At the first sign of sore throat, gargle with Listerine, full strength. Time and time again it checks sore throat before it gets serious.

Because Listerine, full strength, is powerful against germs that cause colds and throat irritation. For example, it kills even the stubborn B. Typhosus (typhoid) germ in 15 seconds. Repeated tests prove it.

You will be delighted to find how quickly Listerine checks ordinary cases of colds and sore throat. When it does not, call your physician.

Our helpful free book, "Personal Hygiene," is worth having. Write to Dept. S. 15, Lambert Pharmacal Company, St. Louis, Mo., U. S. A.

Do this and escape colds



Countless colds start when germs are carried to the mouth on food. By using Listerine on the hands before every meal, you attack such germs and lessen the risk of cold. Remember this, mothers, when handling baby's food.

THE SAFE ANTISEPTIC

Your Broadway And Mine

By WALTER WINCHELL

A LETTER TO PEGGY HOPKINS JOYCE.

Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to The New Castle News.

New York, Nov. 21.

Peggy Hopkins Joyce,
Dorset Hotel,
West 54th Street, Manhattan.

My Dear Peg: Hullo baby, I'll bet you've been thinking that I've gone tall millinery and everything, just because I've been up to my hips in work. As a matter of fact Pegs, I'm afraid the racket is getting the better of me. What with this murder and that story and this column or that review to do the nights are plenty crowded and I really haven't the time to come up and find out who's doing who.

But everything is Jake by me and I trust you're "doin' bad" too. They tell me the rehearsals of your new Frenchy show look good, so maybe you'll knock 'em dead when it opens, and I'm glad too that the suggestion to get the leading lad was carried out. He's a first rate actor, Peggy, and he knows how to give out that Certain Business, particularly with his orbs and his molars, the latter incidentally, being the best ad I've ever seen for a tooth-paste announcement.

But what I started out to write about was David Ludovic George Hopetoun Carnegie Earl of Northesk Baron Rosehill Baron Iglismauldie. You remember him. We three went to the Jungle room and the Club Richman and to Reuben's for sandwiches several times. I see by the local papers that just because he went gay in one of the pash poison parlors and the papers kidded him about it you decided that such things weren't being done, so you gave him plenty of prairie, Now Peggy!

Really I think you are a bit hasty. Far be it from me to interfere and tell you what men to select in your young life for history proves what an expert you are on that score. But after getting really acquainted with Dave, I've come to the conclusion that he didn't rate the slugging he drew from the papers even if I were one of the titerers. I learn Peggy, that when he went to to the Whoopee Club that night and cut up like a regular fellow, instead of being a snob (which he certainly could be) he got out there on the floor and made bums out of the professional Charleston and Black Botton toe-and-heelers.

I learn, too, that he went out without you that night with your permission to celebrate his divorce from Jessica Brown. "Go ahead" you said, "make whoopee, David." Which he did. And just because he rubbed shoulders with common people like tabloid reporters and other soiled characters of the good old but misunderstood Main Stem you decided to phffft with him. Get me right Peggy, I do not care this much (business of snapping the fingers) what happens between you and Dave, but the deal he got from all concerned was simply another form of hitting a guy below the belt.

Last night you should have heard him when some of the mob started putting you on the pan. He was the first to denounce the knockers and he would have none of their remarks. "Then you still care?" I said to him. You'd never know that he did unless you looked at him. He reminded me of the lad who was very miserable and some one said "What's the matter with him?"

But Northesk does care Peggy, if that means anything to you. Don't pay any attention to the gags you read about his running around with a phony countess. He is such a regular guy he wouldn't object to any one using him for publicity purposes. I'll admit that some of the reporters and photographers have taken advantage of his good nature and so have I, but the pay-off came the other night. David had tried the overdose of alinol to End It All, but it didn't work as you probably were glad to know. He got a call from a tab hocus-focus man who said: "My paper is running a full page layout of war heroes on Armistice Day and they would like to put you in it. Don't get out of bed. It will be okay that way."

So Dave obliged by remaining in bed (he was just getting up, it seems) and they took the picture which was supposed to go in the war heroes layout, but when the paper came out what happened? Don't tell me, ask me! They ran the picture of him in his bed, to which there was this caption: "Lord Northesk as he appeared after attempting suicide!" which gives you a rough idea on how they can toss a guy around for laughs in this man's town.

The only thing the matter with Northesk, as we can see it from here, Pegs, is that he left his high hat, monocle and adenoids over in Yurrop instead of bringing them with him. And down in your great big overworked heart, Peggy, I'll bet you think so too.

ROUND ASSERTS BRUNETTES BEST

Tells Commercial Students Kind Of Stenographer He Would Choose

Commercial Club students at the Senior High school had an opportunity to hear Louis B. Round, district mananger of the P. O. Electric Company, speak at their meeting Tuesday.

Mr. Round gave an interesting talk, mostly about features and characteristics of commercial club students. He demonstrated different types of students by making drawings on the blackboard.

He pointed out that if he were about to employ a stenographer he would first look at the color of the hair and eyes. He said that he would choose a girl with black hair. The reason, he said, was that he feels a girl with black hair is quick in action and reliable.

In his talk he also stressed reliability, ability and endurance. By ability I mean the power to be able to do a thing. To get the idea that that job must be done and then do it, stated Mr. Round. "Let the boss feel that he can depend on you when sent out," said Round concerning reliability.

Endurance was stressed in the manner that if one is doing a thing, stick to that thing, keep plowing in, even when the going gets rough. Mr. Round ended his interesting talk by telling the students that they were the captain of their own ship.

Small Boy Writes Essay On Japan

Billie Ewing Of Harlansburg, Tells Why He Should Like To Live In Japan

"Why I Should Like to Live in Japan", is the subject of an interesting essay written by Billie Ewing, aged 9, who is in the fourth grade at the Harlansburg school.

Following is the lad's essay:

"Why I Should Like to Live In Japan"

I should like to live in Japan because I should like to see inside their houses and to see the people move the walls back and forth as they walk from one room to another.

I should like to live in Japan because I should like to see the children and play with them.

I should like to live there so that I could ride in Jinrikishas.

I should like to sleep in their beds which are made on the floor. Their pillows are blocks of wood with a roll of paper on the top.

I also would like to live in Japan because I should like to see the people painting the beautiful chinaware that is sent to our country.

Calls Newspaper Best Ad Medium

People Will Be Reached Through Newspapers, Says Philadelphia Man

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Nov. 21.—That the newspaper is the best means of advertising and that it will reach every member of the community in a way that no other agency can hope to do, were the statements made here recently by Jack Lutz, vice president of the Poor Richard Club, when he spoke to the Business Men's Association of Germantown.

"There is no agency known that will reach as great a number of prospective customers, that will reach them at a lower cost, or that will inspire them in greater confidence of what they read as the newspapers," stated Mr. Lutz. "Not only do figures prove this, but the constant use of the newspaper and its growing use as an advertising medium by those who figure costs and returns prove it."

Mr. Lutz concluded his address by stating that there was no better medium in which the small retailer could advertise the newspapers, because they are read going to work and coming from work, and also in the home.

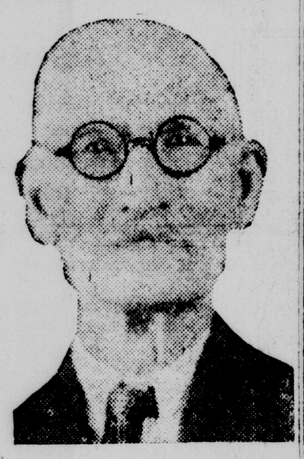
ASTOUNDING CASE OF QUICK RELIEF THROUGH KONJOLA

Stomach Miseries Of Long Standing Conquered By Merits Of Master Medicine.



MR. G. W. ZAHNISER

Konjola has already been a blessing to hundreds of people in New Castle and nearby towns. It has made men and women in all walks of life happy with the knowledge that life for them will no longer be one gloomy day after the other, suffering miseries, but has given them the joy of living by banishing the common ailments of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels.

One report after the other is being received by the Konjola Man at the Love and Megown Drug Store, 204 East Washington street, this city, from sufferers who have already been relieved of their health troubles. For instance Mr. G. W. Zahniser, 914 West Washington street, this city, made the following statement:

"What a wonderful thing it is to be relieved of pains and suffering which one has had for a long time. That is just why I am indorsing Konjola—because it has restored my health", said Mr. Zahniser.

"For quite a long time my stomach had been in an extremely disordered condition. It was impossible to eat a meal without suffering miseries immediately afterward. Food soured and fermented gasses which brought on severe stomach pains in the pit of my stomach. I was subject to such dizzy spells that it was impossible to stand up and many times I have fallen to the floor. Hot and cold flashes came over me all the time. My kidneys were so irregular that my rest was disturbed at all hours of the night. I was forced to rise as often as seven times a night. I got up feeling tired and too worn-out to do my work.

"Konjola was so highly recommended that I decided to give it a trial and what a lucky day it was for me when I first started on the treatment. Right from that time on I began to improve and today there is not a single trace of one of the former troubles left in my system. Konjola regulated the stomach organs so that they act in a natural manner on the food I eat. I never fear any ill after effects such as I formerly suffered. The dizzy spells vanished soon after I started on the treatment and they have never returned. Konjola also strengthened my kidneys so that I can sleep through the entire night without rising a single time and when I get up the next morning I am filled with new life, energy and glorious health. In every way I have been benefited as I shall always praise Konjola as the only medicine that helped me."

Konjola contains the juices from twenty-two roots and herbs combined with other recognized medical ingredients. It works as Nature intends—restoring a more, normal healthy action to the important functionary organs of the body. In the majority of cases the former sufferer reports permanent and sure relief from his or her trouble.

PETER'S ADVENTURES IN ANIMAL LAND

BY MRS. FLORENCE SMITH VINCENT

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

"Oh I am sure you wouldn't let anything happen to me, dear old Dove!" cried the boy. "I wasn't fearing a fall. Indeed, I was not thinking about that at all. You said the distance was great. Now I might go way off with you and have to stay there a long, long time until one of your friends was willing to bring me back. Perhaps I should never be able to get home again. I could not walk it, could I?"

Dove fluttered his wings and jerked his head—a sure sign that he was thinking deeply.

"I don't believe so—no, I am sure that you could not," declared the Dove, at last. "As I said before, it is rather a long fly. You see we Doves do not consider our journey ended until we have come to the great woods that grow by the Green River.

"Ha! Ha! That makes me laugh. Don't think me rude, boy, but the Two-Legs do the queerest things sometimes. For instance, why they should say that river is green I cannot think! It is as blue as any other stream. And what is the use of calling the country through which it runs Kentucky? As if any place that had things so lovely as woods and water needed a name.

"It does seem as if the funny Two-Legs must call everything something or they would not know where they were. We birds don't care a pinfeather about a name. All we need to know is direction and we seldom fail to light on the spot for which we start.

"However, as I was saying, you couldn't possibly walk, boy, but I can promise you a ride back any time you want to come.

"You have no idea how restless some of the Doves are. Even of the cool shadows of the woods they soon tire, and day and night they come and go. That is why they call my people Passenger Pigeons. We are constantly passing and repassing each other, you know."

Peter looked puzzled. Then he laughed.

"I don't believe that is the reason you are called passenger, Dove," said he. "You see, passengers would not be passengers unless they rode in something, and you don't do that, now, do you?"

"We certainly do, my dear fellow," declared Dove, sticking to his point. "We ride in the air, and could there be anything better? Tell me that, now!

"Instead of arguing about a little thing like that, though, answer my question. Will you or will you not fly to the great woods with me?"

Next—"When Do We Start?"

"WILL YOU NOT FLY TO THE GREAT WOODS WITH ME."

What Doctors Think of the Laxative Habit

In all history, no Indian was ever known to have constipation. Nor need YOU. He chewed the bark of a tree called cascara. Today, we have the candy Cascaret.

Cascarizing the bowels never forms a laxative habit. If already formed, an occasional Cascaret will usually break the habit. For cascara strengthens the muscular walls of the bowels, and their need of any aid at all grows constantly less. What other cathartic has this characteristic? The writer knows of none.

An evacuation brought gently about by cascara will, nine times in ten, be followed by full functioning of the bowels on the morrow—and for days after. For there is no REACTION as with sickening salts, or any of the man-made purgatives that go through one's system like a bullet.

Physicians tell us cascara is the ideal laxative—and the tongue tells us candy Cascarets are its ideal form. At least a million people know this; what a pity there are any who don't! Especially parents; because children love to take a Cascaret. After which, for days-on-end, the bowels will be seen to work of their own accord.

The only habit from cascara is that of regularity! Cascarets tone and train the bowels. But at the first sign of returning sluggishness another Cascaret is as effective as the first.

There isn't a druggist who hasn't Cascarets, so WHY experiment with laxatives?

Nine Million Trees Cut For Christmas

About 6,000,000 Will Be Cut In U. S.; 3,000,000 To Be Imported

Nine millions of Christmas trees will be lighted in American homes on Christmas eve. Of these, 6,000,000 will be cut in this country, while 3,000,000 are to be imported from New Brunswick, Canada, for Boston, New York, Chicago and New Orleans, according to an announcement recently made by the United States department of commerce.

Nine million, or even 6,000,000 trees, seem like a whole lot, and from first glances, it may seem as if the native forests were being depleted in order to satisfy the public's demand for a little merriment during one week of the year. But the United States Forest Service, in another statement, effectively spikes this.

Many national forests sell trees every winter, throwing "thinnings" on the market rather than on the trash heap. The forest service urges, however, that the trees be cut carefully, that only inferior trees be removed, and that the best specimens be allowed to remain. The damage done to a forest is not the number of trees taken during the Christmas cutting season, but the manner in which they are removed.

And, according to the Forest Service, the toothpick business requires 30,000 acres of trees annually—six times the area cut to provide Christmas trees each year.

Dry Agents At Detroit To Be Given Shakeup

Prohibition Forces At Detroit And Along Canadian Border Will Be Changed

OFFICIALS WILL NOT LOSE JOBS

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—A general shakeup in the prohibition service and border patrol at Detroit was under discussion today at a conference at prohibition headquarters.

Prohibition Commissioner James M. Doran talked over the situation with U. S. Attorney John R. Wakins, of Detroit, Administrator R. Stone, of Michigan, and customs officials.

Prohibition enforcement conditions in the Detroit district were described as "very unsatisfactory".

Number of Changes

Officials said the first shakeup would take place in the border patrol, which has been under investigation for several months by treasury undercover agents. The investigation disclosed, according to officials, that there had been laxness on the part of some border patrol agents who will be removed from the service. The border patrol is charged with the duty of preventing smuggling from Canada.

Doran said that there will be a number of changes in the personnel of the Detroit prohibition office. No important officials there, however, are expected to lose their jobs.

A number of new agents will be transferred to Detroit and other sections of Michigan to replace agents who will be sent to other districts. Doran explained this policy was adopted in order that the bootleggers and smugglers will not be familiar with the identities of the agents.

In connection with these changes, coast guard headquarters announced that the seasonal shift of ships and personnel from the Great Lakes to southern waters had started.

Pennsy Employes Prove Samaritans To Railroad Family

Sincere appreciation and gratitude for the kind services and liberal financial assistance which employes of the carpenter gang and other Erie and Ashtabula workers tendered her husband and family during his recent sickness and following his death was voiced today by Mrs. Henry Bakelaar of Mahoningtown.

It was stated at E. and A. headquarters that Mr. Bakelaar was employed with the carpenter gang of the local division but a short time ago. While at work on a project nearby here he developed quinsey which resulted in his death.

The family was in hard luck circumstances but it remained only for the fellow workers of Mr. Bakelaar to become aware of his condition before help was given. Each employe gave liberally in personal services and financially. Nevertheless Mr. Bakelaar died. At once the same employes made arrangements for his funeral and paid the expenses incurred by it.

It is for these thoughtful services that Mrs. Bakelaar wants to thank the local Pennsylvania employes.

CADDIES GUESTS AT FIELD CLUB

Annual Dinner For Golf Caddies Takes Place On Tuesday Night

Ninety caddies, the boys who carry the golf clubs all year at the New Castle Field club, were given a sumptuous dinner last evening in the main dining room of the club. In addition to the honored caddies, ten members of the Field club were present.

William Nunn handled the job of toastmaster and called on several of the assembled diners for talks. The principal speech was made by Angelo Monsey, caddie master at the Field club.

Mr. Monsey in his talk praised the boys for their faithful services the past year, and said that to his recollection the group gathered at the table was about the finest that he has ever had.

Attorney T. . Dickey in the course of his talk promised to give $25 next year to the most valuable caddy at the club during the season. The best caddy is to be selected by Captain V. Arthur Smith, club pro.

The caddies who won prizes in a recent tournament were given awards of money as a part of the evening's program.

It was a splendid dinner occasion and one that will live long in the memories of the hungry boys who partook of the meal. The members all expressed themselves as well pleased with the work of the caddies during the past summer.

(International News Service)

Francis Gibson, Monessen health officer, told of investigating the case and of the discovery of the bodies of the twins buried in a chicken yard in the rear of the Hlatky home on Aug. 25 and 27 last.

He exhibited several purported confessions alleged to have been signed by Mrs. Hlatky while she was a patient in Monongahela hospital, but they were not read to the jury.

The defense did not oppose their admission as exhibits without their contents being made known to the jury.

Commutation Is Asked By Slayer

Counsel For Slayer Doomed To Die Monday Says Case Was Hurried Too Much

"HUMAN SACRIFICE", COUNSEL CONTENDS

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Nov. 21.—Counsel representing Charles Lydle, Huntingdon county slayer who is sentenced to be electrocuted Monday, emphasized the unusual speed with which the case had been hurried through the court as their chief plea for commutation in presenting the case to the state board of pardons today. Lydle was convicted of the fatal shooting of John P. Drake in Mount Union.

District Attorney Beck and Senator R. W. Williamson who opposed the pardon denied that the case had lacked ample defense or had been unduly pushed through the court. They also questioned another point of the defense that Lydle's conviction had been due to adverse public sentiment.

The chief plea in Lydle's defense was advanced by Harry W. Petrikin, Huntingdon attorney who represented him at the trial. Petrikin charged that "for a town its size there has been more lawlessness in Mount Union in the past 15 years than in any other in the state." He pointed out that in that period there have been nine homicides, none of which seemed to arouse "public interest or indignation."

"Human Sacrifice."

"Lydle" Petrikin asserted "was made the human sacrifice by which the community hoped to wash clean its previous record of lawlessness and attendant public apathy."

District Attorney Drake told the board that it was only by speedy justice that such lawlessness could be curbed and insisted that Lydle was a "cold blooded murderer who had been spoiling for a fight" and that his punishment would serve as a deterrent to other criminals.

Does "Queer Things" Bay Rum Blamed

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Nov. 21.—Bay rum which he said could be "bought by anyone" at a local five and ten cent store, was blamed today for the plight of Herman Bradley of Uniontown, who pleaded guilty to operating an automobile while intoxicated. He said he usually drank whisky or moonshine, but oftentimes had to resort to bay rum. He was fined $200 and sentenced to jail for three months.

Seek To Reduce Accidents Among Workers Of State

Three Hundred Safety Engineers From Entire State In Conference

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Nov. 21.—More than 300 safety engineers, representing all the leading industries of Pennsylvania, met here today to discuss definite plans for a state-wide drive to reduce industrial accidents during 1929.

Charles A. Waters, secretary of labor and industry, who welcomed the delegates explained the purpose of the proposed move and asked continuance of the quality of cooperation which the large industries of the state have accorded the department.

He explained certain reorganization plans which have been put into effect in the department in an effort to give wider assistance to industries and to assure that specially trained personnel be available for inspection work.

In addition to Secretary Waters, Harry Immel, W. H. Horner, W. J. McGuire, Cyril Ainsworth and John S. Spicer, bureau heads of the department, spoke on the detailed plans of their various units.

The afternoon session was devoted to a round table conference at which representatives of the various industries explained their plans for cooperation with state agencies.

Field Club Golfing Season Is Closed

Captain V. Arthur Smith Plans School Of Instruction For Winter

Golfing season at the New Castle Field club, which lasted somewhat longer than usual this year, owing to the wonderful weather that has prevailed, is now closed and the followers of the game, locally, are putting away their clubs and balls until spring beckons them out on the greens again.

There are numbers, however, according to Captain V. Arthur Smith, professional at the New Castle Field club, who have their golfing paraphernalia at his quarters in the caddy house, where they were left for repair, etc. or in the locker room of the club house.

As Captain Smith plans to complete his work for the present year on the first of the coming month, he is desirous of having the owners of these outfits in the locker room or his quarters, get them at once, as otherwise the owners will be responsible for them.

Captain Smith is planning to open an indoor school for the instruction of those interested in golf in the near future. It will be carried on all winter. It is anticipated that in view of the increased numbers of persons interested in the game because of the opening of the public golf links next year, that he will have many students of the game listed at his school this winter.

Mercy Granted To Mother Guilty In Death Of Child

(International News Service)

GREENSBURG, Pa., Nov. 21.—Mrs. Mary Ferraro, 31, of Salem township, today was found guilty of involuntary manslaughter in connection with the death of her four-year-old stepson, Tommy Ferraro, by a jury in criminal court here. The jury recommended her to the mercy of the court. Sentence was not imposed.

Her husband, Philip Ferraro, was acquitted on the same charge.

The woman had been arrested following the death of the child on December 24, 1927. Tommy died of pneumonia, superinduced, the state charged, by cruelty and neglect. It was brought out during the trial that the day before the child died it had been permitted to sleep with other children in a fireless basement while the mother, an invalid, occupied a heated room above.

Heavy Calendar Awaiting Opening Of New Congress

Senate Faced By Heavy Legislative Program As First Session Nears

BOULDER DAM BILL GETS RIGHT-OF-WAY

Filibuster Against Boulder Dam May Affect Other Important Measures

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—A top-heavy legislative program awaits the senate, while a rather easy session confronts the house, although both branches of congress must enact $4,700,000,000 worth of departmental appropriation bills.

This was the legislative outlook of congress today with its first meeting of the short session two weeks away.

The senate's calendar will be so heavy, administration leaders admitted, that thousands of bills, private and public, will be slain in the mad rush for legislation before the seventieth congress expires at noon on March 4 next. The jam is due partly to the long filibuster last spring by opponents of the Swing-Johnson Boulder dam bill.

Dam Measure First.

The Boulder Dam measure has the right of way in the senate under an agreement entered before the last session ended. This will not insure its enactment by any means, but the bill must be disposed of in some fashion before any other important business can be transacted. The appropriation bills, however, will supersede it, probably by unanimous consent, due to their privileged character.

The senate program tentatively adopted by administration leaders, includes plans to enact the new "big navy" bill, which provides for the construction of 15 fast cruisers and an airplane carrier, for passage of a new farm relief bill, for some action on President Coolidge's veto of the Morris-Muscle Shoals bill and for ratification of the Kellogg anti-war treaty.

Due to the prospects of a new filibuster against the Boulder Dam bill, some administration leaders were fearful for both the navy bill and the Kellogg pact. It likewise may cause such a legislative jam after the Christmas holidays as to make impossible enactment of the proposed farm relief bill.

Against Special Session.

Some Democratic leaders have indicated they favor the calling of several session of the new congress after March 4. Other minority spokesmen have declared against a special session and argued that farm relief, the navy bill and the Kellogg pact can be disposed of at the coming short session, thus giving the country another nine-months legislative rest.

Administration forces will seek to carry out this program but the Boulder Dam bill may prove a stumbling block. It alone has bright prospects of final action, though that action may not be enactment. If the filibustering opposition postpones a final decision until the new year, administration leaders may agree to sidetrack it in order to carry out the remainder of their program.

The appropriation bills, due to their privileged position in congressional legislation, are sure of enactment. In some former short sessions, the bills are blocked in the legislative jam but resolutions were adopted authorizing sufficient expenditures for the departments to function until congress returned.

Helen Karchners, possessing liquor, paroled for two years upon the payment of a fine of $100 and costs.

Charles Robertson, charged with failure to provide for minor children, was brought before the court and sent back to jail to await further investigation of the case.

Other Cities To Seek Convention

Altoona And Scranton Want 1929 Legion Convention, Reports Dempsey

NEW CASTLE WILL MAKE STRONG BID

In a recent telephone communication with State Commander Charles C. Gebhart of the Pennsylvania American Legion, Pat J. Dempsey, assistant district commander of the organization for Lawrence county learned that a number of other cities besides New Castle are bidding strongly for the 1929 state convention.

The state commander called Mr. Dempsey from Cumberland, Md., relative to some other Legion matters, but before the conversation had ended the local official says he found out something worth heeding about the ins and outs of the next convention.

Commander Gebhart told Mr. Dempsey that Scranton and Altoona were both attempting to secure the next meeting for their cities. Scranton especially seems to be a strong contender.

Speaking with reference to the annual gathering, Dempsey said it will take some tall hustling to bring the convention here. "One of the important things that will be taken into consideration by the state executive committee of the Legion when it meets in Philadelphia on December 1 to name the city," continued the local commander—"will be the post membership. Every post that bids for the meeting must be over the top in this respect. This means that last year's membership must be paid up 100 per cent in time to have all new cards and dues in Philadelphia headquartes by the first of next month.

"As membership is the factor that counts most at state headquarters it means that every legionnaire and ex-service man of the community, who is interested in getting the convention here, must get busy. The legionnaires must pay their dues immediately, while the ex-service men who do not belong to the post should join without delay. Checks for dues should go to Robert E. Armstrong, finance chairman, at the Legion home at 134 North Jefferson street. Ex-service men wishing to join should call W. R. Allen, membership chairman, at Bell 289."

According to the local commander it was Uniontown's membership record that was responsible for this year's convention going to that city. Uniontown was not only over the top along that line on December 1, 1927, but it had practically doubled its membership, he said.

Legion Committee Will Report Funds

Members of the special American Legion Convention committee will meet this evening at 8 o'clock at the Legion home on North Jefferson street.

At this time the various members of this special committee will report the results of the solicitation of funds for the financing of the 1929 Legion convention for New Castle.

HIGHLAND TROOP 18.

The regular weekly meeting of Highland toop 18 was held in the "Highland Caves" on Tuesday evening, November 20 at 7:30 o'clock. There was a large attendance. Committeemen J. C. Wallace and T. J. McFate were present. The meeting was opened with the regular opening exercises. J. C. Wallace received reports of Good Turns. George Winter read the minutes of the last meeting and collected the dues. The scouts decided to have all registrations paid for the coming year, by January 29th 1929. Entertainment was provided by Scoutmaster Davis telling a few scout stories.

Scout Tom Hawkins took charge of the Individual Point contest and reports that the scouts are taking a lively interest in it. Scout Tom Trodden was put in charge of getting Forestry badges for the troop.

Scoutmaster Davis elected the following scouts for patrol leaders: Tom Parlett, Bob Jameson, Bob Bishop, Dave Nesbitt. Three of these scouts were patrol leaders last year and proved so efficient that they were elected again. The patrol leaders chose their patrol.

Tom Parlett chose George Winter and Bill Bishop; Bob Jameson chose Tom Hawkins and Frank Baldwin. In Bop Bishop's patrol is Bob Cole and in Dave Nesbitt's patrol is Tom Trodden.

The scribe was instructed to write a note of thanks to the board of trustees of the Highland U. P. church of which Mayor Gillespie is the chairman, giving the troop's appreciation for their cementing the floor of the "Highland Caves."

On December 15 on the Whaley property at the end of Highland avenue a contest between Lawrence county troops will be held in which hunter's stew and twist will be the bill of fare. Thus the boys from the "Highland Caves" is the first issue challenged to the other Lawrence county troops for this event. They will send a strong team out to Whaley Vale on December 15.

On December 18 a joint Court of Honor with the Elks troop No. 5 will be held.

Sometime in March there will be a First Aid meet at the Carnegie auditorium for the troops of Lawrence county. Mr. Tully of the Carnegie Steel company has offered a loving cup for the winning team. We expect to see a team of ambitious bears of the "Highland Caves' out after the trophy.

The question of whether the boys were in favor of having the Girl Scouts meet in the "Highland Caves" on Monday evenings was brought before the troop. The boys voted unanimously in favor of the question and hope their troop succeeds.

It was decided to have one meeting for taking tests each month and to let the Eagle scouts instruct the boys who wish to pass tests.

Other arrangements for putting displays on the walls of the Cave were made.

The next meeting of the troop will be held in the "Highland Caves" on Tuesday evening from 7 to 8:30 p. m. All scouts of the troop please note that the meeting time has been changed. Jack Stevenson.

Bedrock Foundation For Bridge Pier At North Street Found

Concrete Being Poured For New Bridge Across Neshannock

Concrete is being poured for the foundation pier of the new bridge across the Neshannock at North street. Contractors were fortunate in striking bedrock two or three feet below the level of the stream. When the East Washington street bridge was built it was necessary to drive piling to a considerable depth before striking bedrock. Work has progressed on the North street foundations to such an extent that it is not anticipated that there will be any delays on account of high water.

Controversy Over Commission On Deal

Alderman L. C. Mantz reserved his decision yesterday afternoon after hearing evidence in the case of William M. Nunn against W. A. Dibbley. The case was over a commission on a real estate deal. Nunn made a deal between W. A. Dibbley, who had a city property, and Charles Frank, who had a farm in Shenango township, whereby there was to be an exchange of properties. The parties, according to Nunn, were told that each was to pay a commission. Frank paid his share of the commission on the property which he traded. Dibbley paid $20 on his share of the commission, but refused to pay any more.

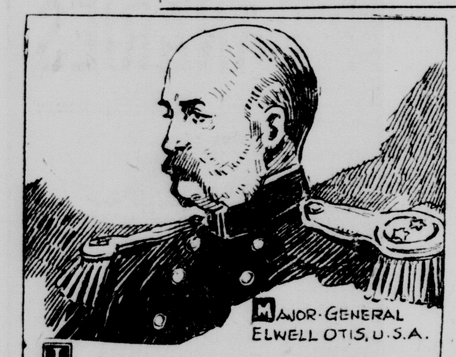
The Americans In Control

SHORTLY AFTER THE AMERICANS CAPTURED SAN FERNANDO (MAY 4, 1899), THE PHILIPPINE RAINY SEASON SET IN, DRENCHING THE SOLDIERS, DELUGING THE RICE FIELDS AND FLOODING THE ROADS, MAKING FURTHER OPERATIONS AGAINST THE INSURGENTS IMPOSSIBLE.

IN OCTOBER THE CAMPAIGN WAS RENEWED WITH MORE VIGOR THAN EVER, AND AGUINALDO'S ARMY WAS SOON SCATTERED BEFORE THE CONSTANT HAMMERING OF THE AMERICANS.



MAJOR-GENERAL ELWELL OTIS, U.S.A.

IN NOVEMBER, 1899, GENERAL OTIS, THE AMERICAN GOVERNOR, ANNOUNCED THAT ALL OF CENTRAL LUZON WAS UNDER THE CONTROL OF THE MILITARY AUTHORITIES. BUT OUR TROOPS HAD BEEN FORCED TO GARRISON AND FORTIFY ALL THE TOWNS THEY HAD WON, AND THE ARMY IN THE ISLANDS HAD BEEN INCREASED TO MORE THAN SEVENTY THOUSAND MEN.

THIS GREAT FORCE WAS DISTRIBUTED THROUGH THE PHILIPPINE GROUP, HOLDING SOME FOUR HUNDRED FAR-FLUNG POSTS, WHOSE GARRISONS RANGED IN SIZE FROM A WHOLE REGIMENT TO A SINGLE COMPANY. THE AMERICANS HELD THE NATIVES DOWN, BUT THERE WAS NO REAL SUBMISSION.

Jack Sharkey Purchases Fine New Home

Boston Mauler Enters Society

Sharkey Establishes Self In Boston "400" By Magnificent New Residence

JACK ELATED OVER HIS NEW ABODE

By DAVIS J. WALSH
Sports Editor International News Service

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—The Tunney influence, committed to betterment and uplift among vegetating ears, has claimed a prominent convert, according to audible gossip that filtered up the backstairs from the servant's quarters today. The Jack Sharkeys, of Boston, have joined the young married set of and contiguous to Chestnut Hill, where field trials in suburban swank are held daily. They are preparing to exchange neighborly calls.

Mr. Sharkey, whose name attained considerable prominence in the newspapers several years ago in a professional way, has purchased a $50,000 home in this exclusive domain of the idle rich and, having been sponsored by the scion of established millions, is in a position to bow formally whenever bowed to. Meanwhile, his managing director, Mr. John Buckley, has been most conspicuous at Boston's "first nights" of the theatre, Mr. Buckley being a man of very commanding presence. His white shirt front alone has been the cynosure of many envious eyes. Mr. Buckley is not one to neglect the amenities of his position as associate of Mr. Sharkey, of the Chestnut Hill Sharkeys.

Elaborate Finishings.

Work upon the latter's estate is going forward apace, I am informed, and soon his imposing residence will be furnished in taste; also in some opulence. It is said that Mr. Sharkey has taken it "on the nut" to the amount of $20,000 in order to give his new home just the proper background. The expression in question was used by a young society man from Revere Beach. It isn't likely that Mr. Sharkey would know him.

In the rear of the estate is a four-car garage and, of course, the servants' quarters must be kept up because the help nowadays are so independent. It's a problem, really.

Another problem, for all I know, will revolve around the question of whether the butler should wear livery or just plain black. The latter is more dignified. The chauffeurs, of course, can have the third car on nights off and cook and the scullery maid will be allowed visitors up to a eleven o'clock on Tuesday and Thursday evenings. The housekeeper will be held to strict accountability for the enforcement of discipline within the menage.

Mr. Sharkey will be at home often but not always. He has his duty to his public. This, he will perform from time to time throughout a busy winter season, democratically stripping to the waist like any commoner. He thus will have his moments when he will mix freely with the man in the street. Also with the man in the ring. Always well to see how the other half lives, you know.

In closing, I wish to state that I am against the further conversion of vegetating ears. I make this protest from motives purely selfish. Who am I to demand a working press seat at the next heavyweight championship fight with all the society editors to be taken care of?

Geneva Prepares For Westminster

Conference Championship At Stake In Saturday Game At New Wilmington

(Special To The News)

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., Nov. 21. — Back from a somewhat disastrous trip to Philadelphia, Coach Flenniken's Geneva charges are preparing for their last conference game of the year. Next Saturday at New Wilmington the Gold and White will tackle Dwight Beede's U. P. gridders from Westminster in a game which will probably decide the ultimate Conference champion. Last Saturday at Philadelphia the Covenanters played football as they know how, but several bad breaks kept touchdowns from materializing, and the Gold and White had to take another setback, their fourth of the year. Four victories and four defeats is the record sported by the 1928 Covenanters, and Geneva coaches are anxious to wind up the season with victories over Westminster and John Carroll.

A new Conference trophy is to be offered this year, so the clash between Geneva and Westminster on Saturday is special important. Geneva has won the Conference championship ever since the Tri-State Conference has been in existence and they will be very reluctant in relinquishing their hold on the gonfalon this year,—but such a fate is quite apt to be the case.

The play of the Covenanter line was very good Saturday and the Gold and White backfield functioned perfectly at all times, so Geneva will give Westminster a lot of trouble next Saturday, although Westminster has the edge on account of its recent fine showing against Waynesburg.

Conference Title At Stake Saturday

Westminster Has Chance To Take Conference Grid Title This Year

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Nov. 21 —The final standing in the tri-state conference is apt to be determined somewhat by the outcome of the Geneva-Westminster football game here Saturday.

Geneva has played but three conference games and has won all three, while Westminster has played four, three of which have been won. A victory for Geneva would clinch the conference title but a victory for Westminster would place Duquesne, Geneva and the United Presbyterians in a tie for first place.

The Dukes have already played three conference games, two of which have been won. Games with Waynesburg and with Bethany are still to be played by Layden's crew next Saturday and on Thanksgiving day. If either the Bisons or the Yellowjackets defeat the Dukes, the Bluff team will be eliminated from the conference race.

Geneva plays but four conference games this year so a victory by Westminster on Saturday would give Beede's U. P. outfit a methematical advantage with four victories and one defeat to three victories and one defeat for Geneva.

Locals Resume Grid Training

New Castle High Gridders Start Preparing For South High Battle

THREE DAYS' REST WAS BADLY NEEDED

By "BUGS" WALTHER.

With three days of rest, the New Castle high school football team, resumed training this afternoon at Franklin Field. The next big game and the final one, comes on Thanksgiving day with South High of Youngstown at Franklin Field.

The red and black team reached the peak of perfection in the Beaver Falls game last Saturday. It would have taken a super team to have beaten the local stalwarts.

Rest Was Needed.

Coach Philip H. Bridenbaugh decided that the boys needed just a little rest and Monday and Tuesday were "off" days as far as grid practice was concerned. Three days of rest didn't hurt the boys a bit. The cripples are slowly recovering and it is hoped that the team will be in the "pink" for the Youngstown game here on Thanksgiving.

The locals are not scheduled for this Saturday, Coach Bridenbaugh desiring to rest them up in preparation for the stiff encounter in the finale of the year.

Only light workouts will be indulged in for the next few days with the real conditioning coming Monday and Tuesday of next week. The boys will have several new plays to use against South High, according to "Bridie". The South High scouts have been thick at every game played by the red and black this season, even at Washington and Greensburg, showing to what extent Coach Ashbaugh fears the Lawrence countians.

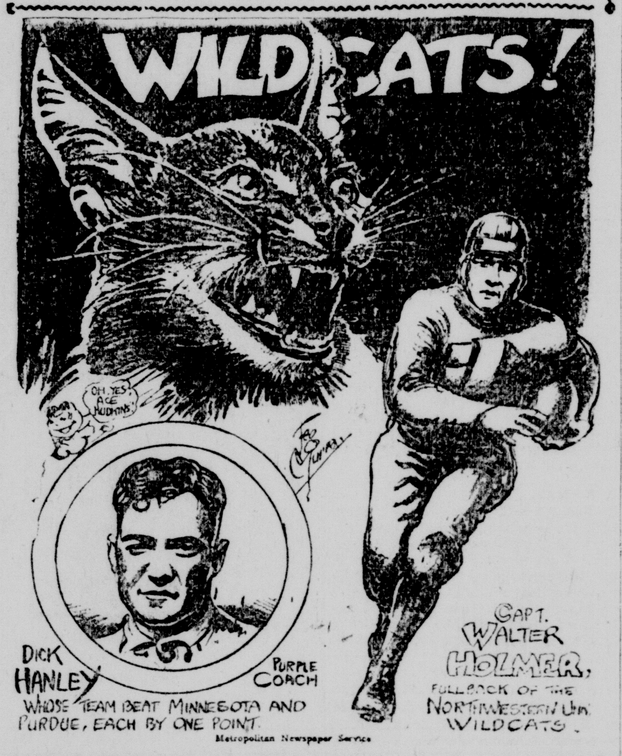
Trotting Star To Rest Until 1930

Scotland, 2:05, colt trotter owned by Henry Oliver, Pittsburgh, will rest until 1930 when he is five years old. He made strenuous campaigns as a two and three year old in charge of Tommy Murphy and Ben White. It was Scotland who forced Fireglow to the two year old trotting race record 2:04 in the junior division in the 1927 Kentucky futurity.

Eddie Casey Not To Relieve Horween

Reports that Arnold Horween, grid coach at Harvard would be succeeded next by Eddie Casey, present Frenchman coach has been denied by William J. Bingham, director of athletics who said his confidence in Horween is as strong now as when Arnold went to Harvard as coach.

Northwestern's Leaders — By Feg Murray



Evanston, Illinois, the lair of the Wildcats of Northwestern University, is a queer place, and as one who lived there for two football seasons, I can so testify. If you get married as an undergraduate, they kick you out of school; they caution you not to bet on games; they develop hard-luck football teams that seldom win the games they most want to win; and when they do beat an important rival, the students raise such a riot that cops are K O'd by the dozen and whole stadia are set on fire!

From the above you can see that Northwestern takes its football seriously. When I lived there, in the fall of 1923 and '24, the best the team could do was to win from Indiana while losing nine conference games in the two seasons. Things began to pick up, however; Notre Dame, held to a 6 to 13 score in 1924, was only able to beat the purple 13 to 10 in 1925. But much better than that, Northwestern scored THE UPSET of the year when it defeated Michigan in the mud at Soldiers' Field, 3 to 2. Indiana and Purdue were also defeated, and again in 1926, when the Wildcats lost only to Notre Dame (0-6), and also beat Chicago and Iowa, ending the season with a clean conference slate.

Then Coach Thistlethwaite moved on to Wisconsin, and Dick Hanley, formerly of Washington State, and Coach of the Haskell Indians, went to Evanston. He beat Ohio State and Iowa, but lost to Illinois by one point, and to Missouri, Purdue and Indiana. Now, led by the plunging, passing kicking, Walter Holmer, the Wildcats are having only a partly successful season. Mighty Minnesota and powerful Purdue (that tied Wisconsin) were each beaten by one point, but games were lost to Ohio State and Illinois. What will Northwestern do to Dartmouth on November 24th?

"I will perdict that the game (Yale-Army) will be a close contest between two well-coached teams."—Bill Roper in New York newspaper.

And that's that.

Westminster-Geneva Game To Be Played At New Wilmington

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Nov. 21 —Contrary to many rumors, the Geneva-Westminster football game will be played at New Wilmington on Saturday of this week and not at New Castle as announced in Pittsburgh papers.

The United Presbyterians and Covenanters, playing for the first time since 1925, renew an ancient grid rivalry that was once the stimulus for much tradition. Not since 1916 have the U. P. teams been able to defeat the Beaver Falls representatives on the gridiron and it would be but the irony of fate to have the strong Golden Tornado humbled this year.

Dr. W. Charles Wallace, president of Westminster and a graduate of Geneva college, finds himself in something of a predicament concerning the game, but has announced that he will, of course, cheer for the fighting blue and white of his adopted college in the game here Saturday.

Westminster played the Covenanters at Beaver Falls when the Geneva stadium was dedicated in 1925. This renewal of grid relations on Saturday is, strangely enough, to be a battle for supremacy in the tri-state conference race. A victory for either team will settle the standing unless Duquesne wins the next two conference tilts with Waynesburg and Bethany.

Steffen Declares Harpster Greatest Player This Year

Chicago Judge-Coach Says "Scotchmen Wouldn't Give" Reason For Victory

PAYS TRIBUTE TO HARPY STULDREHER

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Nov. 21.—The secret of Carnegie Tech's surprising victory over Notre Dame was explained today by no less an authority than Judge Walter P. Steffen himself, the famous "commuting coach" at Tech.

"You see," said the judge, "that Scotch line just wouldn't give."

Steffen, who for fifteen years has spent his week-ends coaching football at Carnegie Tech, in Pittsburgh, and the other days of the week presiding over a municipal courtroom in Chicago, thinks his quarterback Harpster was the greatest all-around performer on the gridiron this season.

Harpster Real Threat

"There isn't anything that boy can't do with a football," said the jurist-coach. "He's a real player and field general in one. That's a rare combination."

Judge Steffen sportingly conceded that a former Notre Dame player, in his opinion, was even greater than Harpster. He was Stuldreher of Four Horsemen fame, "the greatest player-field general of all time."

The coaching-judge, himself an all American quarterback on the University of Chicago team in 1908, said his boys had been "laying" for Notre Dame since Carnegie's victory in 1926 when the world was allowed to believe Tech's victory was "just an accident".

Loughran-Stribling May Fight In Boston

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—As a result of the ruling of the New York State Athletic commission that Tommy Loughran, light heavyweight champion, cannot jump out of his division and fight heavyweights in this state negotiations were under way today to transfer the proposed bout between Loughran and Young Stribling to Boston. The bout may be held in the Hub on December 7.

The ruling will prevent Loughran from participating in the elimination tournament to determine Gene Tunney's successor as heavyweight champion.

Princeton And Navy To Battle Saturday

Princeton Team Holds Slight Edge Over Middies In Coming Game

Navy Since Second Quarter Of Notre Dame Game Has Been Improved Team

By TOM THORP

International News Service Special Correspondent

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 21.—Princeton has a tough proposition on its hands to vanquish the Navy at Philadelphia on Saturday. Bill Ingram's Midshipmen have made wonderful progress during the past few weeks. Since their unexpected win over Lou Young's fighting Quakers, the Annapolis stars have come along like a real championship contender.

The Naval Academy was unfortunate at the very start of preliminary training to suffer a casualty. No one can possibly expect a squad of youngsters to forget the death of a teammate. The memory of their lost mate cast a pall of gloom over the entire squad, and they were defeated by Davis Elkins and Boston College.

Navy Improves

It was not until the second half of the Notre Dame game out at Chicago that the Navy finally awakened. In the closing minutes of that contest Bill Ingram's Midshipmen played sensational football.

From that moment they were a hard squad to beat. This the gridiron world learned when they gained a 6-0 victory over a truly great Penn eleven. Since then Navy beat West Virginia Wesleyan, Michigan and Loyola by topheavy scores. The future admirals fought a 6-6 tie with Michigan a week after the latter threw Bob Zuppke's Illinois outfit out of the leadership of the "Big Ten."

Princeton has a better record than Navy this year so far as "games won" and "points scored" go. The Tigers have rolled up 143 points in seven games. They have yet to lose a contest, although Virginia and Ohio State succeeded in holding the Orange and Black to tie scores. Only 20 points have been tallied against them.

The Navy has played one more game, making 105 points in eight contests. Only 21 points have been tallied against Ingram's fighters. This, too, after the latter opposed some of the strongest offensive elevens of the East. The great Penn team was held to no score. All of which indicates the Navy has a strong defensive squad.

Princeton Favored

It might be said that the Tigers enjoy a slight advantage at the extremeties. Lawler and Stinson are a capable pair of ends. Benedict and Morrison, their subs, held up their positions well when they were used. Moret and Byng do not look to be quite as strong offensively as the orange and black rivals.

Both quarters will unquestionably resort to open play, neither team appearing strong enough to gain sufficient ground by gushing methods. For that reason Princeton's advantage at the ends may turn the tide in favor of the orange and black.

We have little to pick between the dush lines. Hookenberry, Green, Captain Howe, Mestres and Barfield, played fine ball against Yale. Hover, the Navy line of Wilson, Captain Burke, Hughes, Koppke and Brownstrom, appear to be able to handle its Tiger rivals. No advantage can be discerned in the forward lines of the rival rush lines.

Norman Wittmer, Requardt and Miles are a strudy backfield. They should have the edge on their Navy rivals, Welchel, Cannon, Castree and Clifton. The latter have not functioned quite as well as their Princeton rivals. However, defensively the Navy backs are sure to hold their own.

It looks like a tough, hard game. Because of Princeton's victory over Yale, the orange and black will enter the contest a favorite. The game will questionably result in a small score one way or the other. It will be Princeton's offense against the Navy rock ribbed defense. Which will triumph?

Reed To Test Hebrew Boxer

Goodman And Reed Sign To Battle Monday At Jolly Bowl

ELMO MUST TRAIN HARD FOR FARROW

By ED FRITZ

Joey Goodman, sensational Hebrew who knocked out Jack McFarland of Pittsburgh and Eddie Conley of Toledo, then followed these two victories by polishing off rugged Johnny Michaels at Youngstown, will return to New Castle next Monday night with Jimmy Reed, elusive Erie fighter, as his opponent. Reed is a very clever boy and like Johnny Dundee works the ropes to perfection.

Reed's only appearance in this vicinity occurred several months ago when he fought Johnny Kusic at Idora park, Youngstown. According to Phil Greer and some of the other boys about town, Reed defeated Kusic. If this be as they say, Joey will have his work cut out because Kusic, while not a world beater, is a good boy.

According to those who have seen Goodman he not only is ring smart but a very good puncher. He has the knack of being able to finish a foe without showing mercy and knows what to do at the right time. At least he demonstrated this point with McFarland and Conley but what he can do with Reed remains to be seen.

O'LEARY COMING BACK

Dick O'Leary of Wilkes-Barre, who fought Johnny Dunn here, will return to battle George O'Brien in the semi-final. Dick is a good boy but when he milled with Dunn it was a case of having fought each other too often. They knew each other's style and it was not a good fight.

Dick wants to make good here and when Goodman was selected for the card he asked to be given an assignment. "I want to prove to the critics that I can fight," said Dick, and O'Brien will give him the opportunity. O'Leary is a brother to Tom. He is clever, hits good and against O'Brien should strut at his best.

ROMEO CHANGED STYLE

Romeo Pacelli, who stopped Tony Azzari in two rounds, will fight Ray Collins of Erie. Collins is the best opponent billed for Romeo and it will show whether he is as good as his supporters say or just a flash. Romeo slugged with Azzari for a round the other night, got the worst of it, changed his style and won by a knockout.

This shows that the little south sider has a nimble brain. Every time the Pittsburgh lad led, Romeo made him miss, countered and beat him to the punch. Azzari rushed and was nailed with a short left to the chin that knocked him as cold as a motor on a December morning.

ELMO'S "BLACK MENACE"

Elmo the Mighty has a match in Warren Farrow. The colored boy made a great hit by keeping step with Elmo Monday and he deserved a draw in our estimation. One thing to be admired about Warren is that he keeps what little posture he knows under all circumstances and he did not let Elmo's grimaces frighten him.

In fact Elmo will have to train for a few days if he wants to beat the black boy, who is willing and tough. Elmo has had easy pickings and when he discovered that the colored boy was tough had to conserve his strength. And there isn't one fan who will agree that Farrow backed away from Elmo's ponderous rights.

PEROTTA WELL LIKED

George Perotta, local middleweight, is training and would like to fight again at the bowl. It is true that Firpo beat Perotta but that doesn't say that he cannot fight. Give Perotta a bout with someone else and the fans will see a mighty good fight and there will be a crowded house, too.

Perotta has always been a courageous fighter. No one ever saw him take one on the chin and curl up. When he fought Firpo he didn't know what the word quit meant. Match him with Johnny Piai, Tony Caputo, or some boys in his class and fans will see an interesting setto.

MAY BATTLE HERE

Tony Ross, who tought Eddie Weygant years ago, is now living in Sharon and wants to fight at the bowl. He is a welterweight. For years he was in the same stable as the late Harry Greb and no doubt has many of the tricks that brought the Pittsburgh boy into a title and a fortune.

Ross wanted to fight Henry Firpo, but Jimmie Dunn said that Ross was not a match for Firpo. When Firpo steps out again Dunn wants an even opponent, he said, as a weak sister doesn't mean anything financially. Ross will probably be given a semi-final by Promoter Jolly.

SHOULD BOX BANTAMS

It is hoped that the next time Johnny McCoy fights here that he fights a bantamweight or a featherweight. Last Monday he had a big edge on Atherton which accounted for Happy's defeat by a wide margin. Weight handicaps in the flyweight division work a greater hardship than in any other class, ring followers believe.

McCoy had weight on Willie Davies and he had an advantage of Atherton. If McCoy wants to fight here let him fight someone who will weigh as much as he does when he enters the ring. While he weighed only 117 when he weighed in, McCoy must have entered the ring around 120. Atherton was at his heighth of poundage at 113¾.

EMMETT'S HARD LUCK

Emmett Rocco's right wrist is not in the best of shape as the result of his 12-round victory over Joe Sekyra at Youngstown and he will be out of action for several weeks, it is expected. Emmett truly is what appropriately might be termed a "hard luck fighter."

Rocco had a long lay-off following the Levinsky bout here. He then underwent an operation as did several members of his family. He fought Sekyra the first time when his eye was dull for want of action, but he made up for what he lost when he boxed Sekyra a second time.

FIGHTS AT PITTSBURGH

Johnny Datto will fight Bushy Graham Monday night at Motor Square Garden, Pittsburgh, and it ought to be a good fight. Johnny stopped Al De Rose here a few nights ago, having preceded that with quick knockouts of Jack McFarland and U. S. Carpentier.

Had he not hurt his hand with McFarland he would not have lasted a round. Carpentier was of the "skarey" type and managed to keep away for five rounds. De Rose, a tough egg of Indiana, tried to fight Datto and any of the boys not of the first water soon pass out after attempting that.

PUNTS AND PASSES

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—One hundred and twenty pounds of New York University dynamite will go into action against Carnegie Tech at Pittsburgh next Saturday when Dud Hormel, midget violet fullback, skirts the Skibo ends. Coach Meehan now plans to start Hormel, one of the fastest players in the east, in place of Follet.

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 21.—The Carnegie Tech coaches believe that the team's defensive worked is as good as could be asked with the exception of a weakness in breaking up forward passes, and practice in this department will feature the squad's preparation for N. Y. U.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Fordham's hopes of defeating Georgetown on Saturday soared today with the return to practice of Captain Tubby Beloin and Siano, star linemen. It had been feared that injuries sustained in the Detroit game would keep them out of the line-up.

WEST POINT, N. Y., Nov. 21.—Army's coaches are none too well satisfied today with the varsity's ability to break up end runs. The scrubs, using Nebraska plays, turned the ends repeatedly yesterday.

HANOVER, N. H., Nov. 21.—After a final drill today the Dartmouth squad will depart for Evanston, Ill., where the Green plays Northwestern on Saturday. Captain Black and Breithut, injured backs, are expected to be in shape by game time.

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 21.—Old man gloom is talking the Princeton campus today. Capt. Chuck Howe, who starred in the Tigers' triumph over Yale, and Quarterback Norman are indisposed and may not get into the navy game.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 21.—Navy is concluding its preparation for the Princeton game with drill in breaking up the forward pass, one of the Tigers' chief offensive weapons.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 21.—The veteran Johnny Hoben has regained his quarterback job on the Yale eleven, replacing Bob Wilson. Hubbard is back at right half, but the other crippled regulars apparently are in no condition to break into the Harvard game.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 21.—On the eve of the Yale game, Harvard's football team is enveloped in the cloak of mystery and secrecy emanded by tradition. Secret practice has been inaugurated at Soldier's Field.

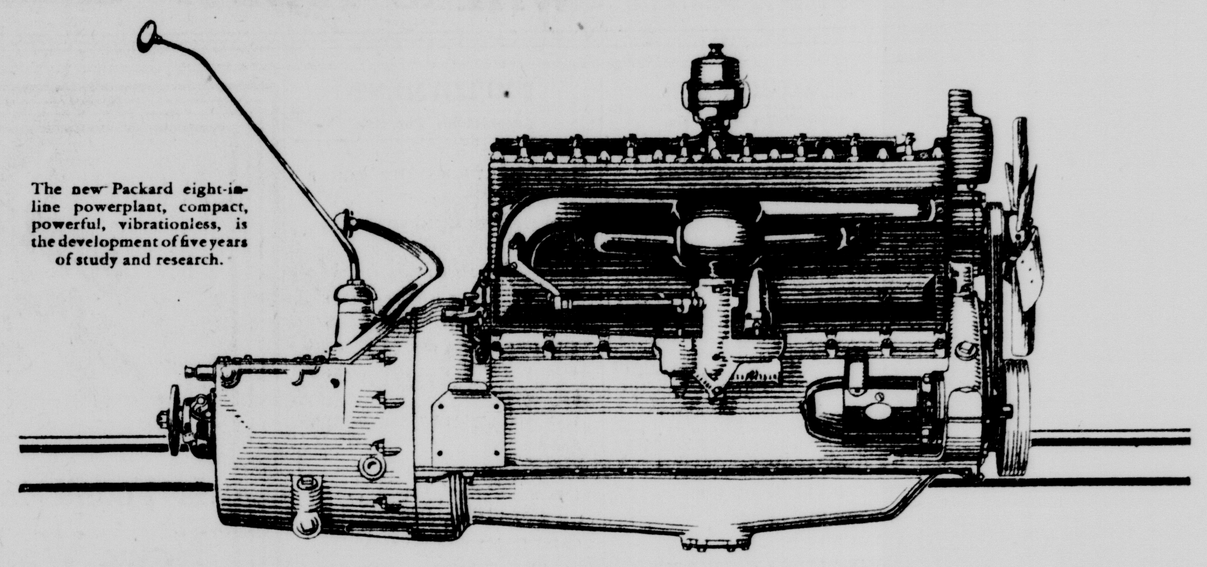
A NEW POWERPLANT



The new Packard eight-in-line powerplant, compact, powerful, vibrationless, is the development of five years of study and research.

—which makes every Packard a Packard Eight

THE new Packard eight-in-line powerplant for its 126 and 133-inch wheelbase models reflects Packard's 30 years of experience in building and servicing all types of motors.

The eight-in-line engine originated in Europe where it was developed by those manufacturers who have since unanimously abandoned the V-type for it. But Packard was the first prominent American maker to introduce it.

Packard's lead was promptly followed by other American builders so that, whereas prior to 1923 thirty American manufacturers of multi-cylinder cars were making V-type motors, today there are but four.

Whereas, previously, twenty-two European manufacturers had been marketing V-type motors, today not a single one is still using them in stock car production.

Five years of constant study of the straight eight, based solidly on Packard's successful development of this type engine for its 136 and 143-inch wheelbase cars, had so firmly proved the basic merits of the eight-in-line principle that Packard decided to completely standardize on eights.

With the new motor Packard puts eight-cylinder smoothness, power and performance at the command of thousands who in the past did not feel they could afford the supreme luxury of transportation which a Packard Eight provides.

You may demonstrate the new Packard Standard Eight at any time. Come in or phone and one will be placed at your disposal. We promise you a new experience in motoring luxury.

The Packard Standard Eight 5-pass. Sedan costs but $2435 at the factory.

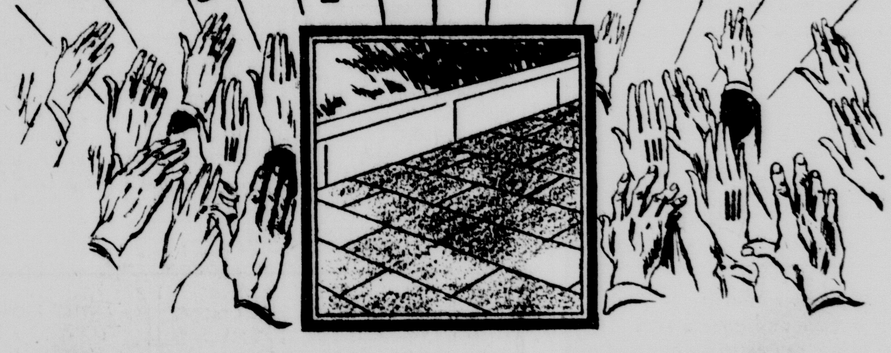
You give your Community a vote of Confidence when you pave with BRICK



BRICK pavements are so durable and so satisfactory to the traffic that long ago they became evidence of thrift, industry and good taste.

Because of appearance and known value, brick pavements advertise a community as one having a worthwhile future.

Brick is the toughest wearing surface man makes. Being vitrified it is water proof. Laid with asphalt between bricks it makes a surface moisture cannot enter to start destruction. Thus it protects the expensive part of your pavement—the part you cannot see.

Laid to modern specifications brick is smooth riding; and stays so even under the heaviest traffic. Records show that it is the cheapest pavement in the end. For further information address National Paving Brick Manufacturers Association, National Press Building, Washington, D. C.

"The A. B. C. of Good Paving," a taxpayer's manual tells in words and pictures how engineers today build ever-wearing, low cost, brick surfaced roads and streets. Address your request to National Paving Brick Manufacturers Association, National Press Building, Washington, D. C.

N. Y. STOCKS

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—A torrent of buying orders for industrial stocks swept in over the markt at the opening today and threatened to complete the work of demolition of the facilities of the exchange started in yesterday's session.

The market is in a dangrous position. With new traders rushing in pell-mell in the mad dash for money-making, professionals handling bears unmercifully in the cornered stocks and the pyramiding of profits firing the blood of a new crop of "small fry" speculators all over the country, Wall street itself is trembling for fear of a collapse that might spread ruin over a large section of the country.

New gains of 2-7 points were recorded in a dozen or more of the speculative favorites in the first half-hour today. Sales in that period totalled 750,000 shares, or at the rate of 7,500,000 shares for a full day. Radio raced up to 365; Wright Aero jumped 6 points; Harvester 8.

The oil stocks forged to the front as the leaders of a spirited advance in the second hour, one of the many smart sessions in oil producers that have held speculators spell-bound in the last two or three weeks. Standard Oil of New York and New Jersey, the popular twins of the oil stock list, were churned around violently, Sinclair, Mid Continent and Pure Oil reaching slightly to higher prices. Motors and steel stocks pushed along moderately, with narrow price changes. Call money 6½ per cent.
